PROSECUTION NOT READY WITH AFFIDAVITS

Langdon and Heney Given More Time—Ruef's Attorney Disappointed.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2—The expected affidavits of District Attorney Langdon Assistant District Attorney Heney and Detective Burns in the case of Abraham Ruef charged with bribery which were expected to be filed this morning in Judge Lawlor's court in reply to those filed in Judge Lawlor's court in reply to those filed by relatives of Ruef and Rabbis Nieto and Kaplan for the purpose of setting aside the arraignment of the accused were not pushed into the scene

In fact they were not filed at all The men who were to have sworn them did not make their appearance in court

The matter was finally continued until next Wednesday

When Judge Lawlor ascended the bench he announced that as the court was to be moved from its present quarters, if the session was to be a prolonged one it might be necessary to take an adjournment to the proposed new quarters near Hyde and McAllister streets which have been rented, and which had to a greater or lesser extent been placed in readiness for future sessions until the city hall is rehabilitated

Affidavits Not Ready

Deputy District Attorney O Gara said the affidavits of the prosecution were not ready He had not seen District Attorney Langdon, or Assistant District Attorney Heney this morning but in view of the fact that neither was on hand, he did not believe they would be present At last accounts so far as he understood the situation the affidavits referred to had not been made ready

He asked therefore, that the matter be continued until next Wednesday morning

Attorney Ach for the defendant said he had expected the affidavits for the prosecution would be presented this morning at the latest, because the matter had been continued from last Tuesday until last Friday and again until this morning At the last continuance it had been understood the defense would be served with the affidavits today and would be allowed at least until tomorrow to make if it saw fit reply to them

Act Disappointed.

Ach was disappointed, he said at the failure of the affidavits to appear but at the same time he was disposed to allow the State all reasonable time it required to present its case

He was of the opinion, however that because of the length of time which the prosecution required in the premises, considerable new matter would appear in the affidavits when they should be filed

He asked, therefore, that at least two days instead of one day, as was the case before be allowed to the defense to make such answer to the affidavits as might be deemed advisable

Judge Lawlor refused to grant the request. He ordered the continuance of the case until next Wednesday morning, and then he said, if the affidavits be presented the court would take such action as might be desirable

The sittings of the court will hereafter be held in the building at the corner of Hyde and McAllister streets instead of the Temple Israel at California and Webster streets as has formerly been the case

DALZELL BROWN TO BE TRIED BEFORE BARTNETT

Three Indicted Bank Officials Plead Not Guilty to Charge of Embezzlement.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE)

SAN FRANCISCO March 2—J Dalzell Brown will be the first of the indicted officials of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company to be brought to trial and March 16 has practically been decided as the day for the opening of the case Assistant District Attorney William Hoff Cook originally decided to try Bartnett first and his case was on the calendar for trial in Judge Dunne's court this morning

A change of plans on the part of the prosecution has been decided on and the charge against Brown involving the embezzlement of $60 000 worth of bonds of the Sacramento Gas and Electric Railroad Company will be tried first

When the proceedings opened this morning Brown Bartnett and Treadwell were called upon to plead to the indictments against them and all answered not guilty Cook stated that it was his desire to try Brown prior to Bartnett. Attorney Hiram Johnson, representing the defendant, stated he was busy and unable to go on with the case at this time

Pleads for Delay.

Cook replied that March 16 seemed to him a suitable date on which to begin but Johnson entered further objections saying he was entitled to a continuance at least until Saturday before the case should be set

"We have no objection said Johnson, "to the choice of the district attorney to try Mr Brown first but we think we are entitled to a suitable continuance "

"I first intended said Cook to try the Bartnett case and so stated to Attorneys Cooper and Geary but since that time the demurrers in the Brown case have been overruled and I am anxious to proceed with that first

Judge Dunne then ordered that the hearing be continued until Saturday at which time a definite date will be set

"RED" INVADES HIS HOME, SHOOTS AND STABS THREE BEFORE HE'S SHOT DOWN

Official Fills Him Full of Lead After Son, Coachman and Himself Are Wounded.

DESPERATE PLOTTERS AIMED TO STRIKE TERROR TO HEARTS OF AUTHORITIES

CHICAGO, March 2—Identification of the man who attempted to kill Chief Shippy as a member of a group of anarchists which has been holding regular meetings in the Ghetto district in the west side of the city was obtained by two detectives

A friend of the police who attends the meetings in order to gather information recognized the body He told the authorities that the man had been selected by lot and told to kill Chief Shippy and Mayor Busse.

A box of lozenges found on the body of the slain anarchist bore the name of Trowbridge Confectionery Company, Meadville, Pa.

The candy in the box was sent to a chemist to be examined for traces of poison The police believe that the assassin had provided himself with poison with which to commit suicide

It is reported that Mayor Busse is about to issue an order prohibiting all street meetings in the city of Chicago. The order will be made general and include religious as well as political gatherings, it being asserted that inflammatory speeches are often made at gatherings held on the streets under the guise of revival meetings By making the edict sweeping it is thought that possible objections to it on the ground of alleged discrimination will be forestalled.

CHICAGO March 2—George M Shippy chief of the Chicago police department today shot and instantly killed an anarchist, who invaded his home wounded the chief shot the officials son Harry in the lung and severely wounded the coachman James Foley

Harry Shippy is seriously hurt Foley will probably recover The chief was stabbed in the hand his wound being trivial

The assailant entered Shippy's home while the chief and his son were alone in one of the rooms The man is said to have handed Chief Shippy a letter which the chief opened and began to read Almost immediately the anarchist drew a revolver and fired at Harry Shippy The boy fell to the floor and his father grappled with the assailant

Shoots Servant, Stabs Chief.

Foley attracted by the shooting rushed to his employer's assistance As the servant entered their room the anarchist broke from the chief's grasp aimed deliberately and shot Foley twice

Again the chief closed with the man the latter turning on him with a knife Shippy attempted to grasp the weapon and received a deep cut on the hand The police official then succeeded in drawing his own revolver and poured shot after shot into the would-be assassin's body Every bullet took effect and the anarchist fell to the floor dead

Chief Tells Story.

Chief Shippy said he believed that the presence of his son saved his life. He has no doubt that the man had planned to kill him

When he handed the envelope to me the thought struck me like a streak of lightning that he was up to some wrong said Mr Shippy "I did not like his looks He looked to me to be an anarchist I grabbed his arms and forced them behind his back, called to my wife who was in another room When she ran in I said 'Mother, see if this man has a revolver She felt one of his hip pockets and said oh the head

I tried to hold him with one hand and draw my revolver with the other, but he pulled away and fell against a door I caught him again and he fought hard to reach his revolver

My son must have heard the struggle and just as he came to my aid the man freed his hand drew his revolver and fired two shots at my son Then Foley ran in and the man shot him

By this time I was able to draw my revolver I fired at the man four times The first two shots entered his head and the other his body He fell at the first shot but I fired three more into him The man drew a knife also in the struggle but I did not know. I had him cut until the fight was over

Blame It on "Reds."

The attack on the chief is believed to have been inspired by the recent activity of the Chicago police following the killing of Father Leo Heinrichs a Roman Catholic priest who was shot by the anarchist Allo in Denver while he was administering the sacrament to his slayer

News of the shooting in Chief Shippy's home reached the police department when a request was sent to a nearby station for an ambulance Every available detective in the city was placed upon the case

Immediately following the tragedy in Denver attempts to trace the crime to a conspiracy hatched in Chicago were begun The local police discovered that a society of Italians had been formed here and had been issuing inflammatory literature aimed at clericals and also that several local clergymen had received threatening letters.

Police Guard Priests.

Yesterday, while the funeral of Father Leo was being held in Paterson N. J., details of police guarded several Roman Catholic churches here. Especial precautions were taken in the Italian quarter where officers in civilian dress schutinized every worshiper as the congregations entered. Later the officers moved to the altars and stood guard over the priests as they conducted the services.

In addition to these measures all well-known anarchists in the city among them Emma Goldman, were warned that they would not be allowed to make addresses in public. So far as is known none attempted to disobey this order and no arrests were made of followers of the cult. The documents sent out by the Italian organization were carefully worded and an examination of them showed that prosecutions based thereon might have failed because of technical shortcomings.

Unable to Identify Him.

Although self-declared anarchists in this city are known to the Chicago police, the identity of the man who attacked Chief Shippy is a mystery. Herman Schuettler, assistant chief of police, who has had charge of the crusade against anarchists in the city was unable to identify the man. He described him as an Italian or Slav, about twenty-four years old, weighing 140 pounds and about five feet, six inches tall. On the shoes and underwear was the number "390." The man wore a dark suit of clothes and a new hat purchased from a local firm.

No articles or marks by which the man might have been identified were found upon his person.

Mayor Gets Shock.

Mayor Busse had an exciting interview with an office seeker a few minutes after he had returned to his office from the Shippy home, whither he hurried on being informed of the affray. The stranger, who was shabbily dressed, was waiting outside the mayor's office in the city hall and as the mayor advanced, extended his hand. The mayor, who was pale and nervous after the experience of Chief of Police Shippy, declined the grasp and eyed the man closely.

"I want a job and I am not here to ask you for anything more. But if I don't get a job there will be trouble," said the man.

The mayor immediately ordered the man out of the building and the latter after glaring angrily at the city executive for a moment, descended to the main floor and walked away.

Excitement at City Hall.

Mayor Busse explained later that the individual had called on him and asking for a position every day for some time past. Today, however, was the first time that he had threatened to create trouble. The incident followed so closely upon the tragedy at Chief Shippy's home, caused some excitement in the city hall and several heads of departments issued orders to their clerks and secretaries not to admit strangers to their offices on any pretext.

Scent Anarchistic Plot.

A circumstance that led the police to believe that the attack upon Chief Shippy was the result of an anarchistic plot, instead of personal grievances, was the fact that a man answering the description of the assailant called at the Shippy residence yesterday. The chief was not at home and, after learning this, the stranger left, the incident causing so little comment that it was not even mentioned to the chief by members of his family at home at the time.

The caller of yesterday was met by Mrs. Shippy and she was in the hall when the anarchist entered today. She ran into another room when the struggle began, after calling upon her son to assist his father. Foley had stopped the chief's horse and buggy in front of the residence and was preparing to take the chief down town to the latter's office.

Boy May Die.

A number of neighboring physicians were summoned to the house immediately after the shooting to attend Foley and the chief's son. Foley was at once sent to a hospital and Harry Shippy was also taken there after his father's reluctance to have him moved had been overcome. The young man, who is twenty-one years old and a student at Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind., is the most dangerously hurt of the three. Two bullets pierced his chest and the surgeons in attendance made no effort to conceal the gravity of his condition.

Squads of policemen were sent to the chief's home and the assistant chief was summoned to take charge of the investigation which is following the shooting.

Mayor Busse ordered detectives sent to the undertaking rooms to which the body of the anarchist was sent and told the officers to arrest anyone who came there, attempting to identify the corpse.

Up to noon, no person had called at the rooms to which the body of the anarchist was sent. A crowd of curiosity seekers gathered about the place and at one time, became so importunate that the policemen on guard were obliged to use force in keeping the crowd surrounded the Shippy residence and kept the police guard there busy. Not until several of the sightseers had been threatened with arrest would they submit to control.

Sweeping Investigation.

A sweeping investigation of the anarchist movement in Chicago by the March grand jury, which was empanelled today, will be undertaken according to States Attorney Healy.

"The investigation will not stop with the dupes, who undertake assassinations, but will go back to the instigators," said Healy. "We shall follow the precedent established at the time of the famous Haymarket riots. There is no specific statute on the subject of anarchy in Illinois, but if it can be shown that the attempt to kill was the result of an agreement the conspiracy statute will apply.

"Instigators can also be held as principals."

The inquest over the body of the man who attacked Chief Shippy was begun this afternoon. It was at once adjourned to give the police further time for investigation.

A post mortem examination of the corpse was ordered.

Priest Celebrates Mass Under Guard

CINCINNATI, O., March 2.—While celebrating mass yesterday at St. Peter's Cathedral, the Rev. Michael Mullvihill, pastor of the cathedral congregation was guarded by police in citizen's clothes.

The priest yesterday received a letter signed John Ryan informing him that anarchists from Denver had arranged to kill him at the mass. The missive was written on a hotel letter head. The priest was not inclined to pay attention to it, but friends appealed to the police.

During the regular services at the church detectives were on duty among the worshipers and near the altar. The author of the letter stated that he had deserted from a band of anarchists and wished to frustrate its plans.

Ministers Decry Killing Of Priest by Anarchist

DENVER, March 2. — Practically every minister, speaking from the pulpit yesterday, made the murder of Father Leo Heinrichs, the principal subject of their discourses.

Several of them traced the origin of all crime to the liquor traffic.

Dr. Christian F. Reisner, of the Grace M. E. church, declared that in this traffic South had found the cause of crime and has almost stopped it. He said:

'If we do not win large territories in the anti-saloon league fight now on, we will see more crime. Trace one crime after another that has recently occurred and they will lead you to the saloon door."

Dr. Bayard Craigh, pastor of the Central Christian church, said that the murder of Father Leo Heinrichs was but the natural climax of the criminal tendencies of the times, but spoke in an optimistic way of the future, stating that he greatest revival of religion this country has ever seen can be expected within a very short time. He declared that the winning of very large fortunes by individuals and the methods they pursue in accumulating riches, tend as much as anything else to destroy morality among people.

Wealthy Crooks Harm Society.

"When one great captain of finance succeeds in winning millions at the sacrifice of truth and justice," he said, "he has demoralized and destroyed the foundation of integrity in thousands of subordinates, who have been practically compelled to be partners with him in his moral delinquencies."

Dean H. Martyn Hart, of St. Johns Episcopal church, said:

"Every day men, because of their power and high station in life, defy law and escape punishment. At the present moment iniquity abounds throughout the land and is unchecked by quick and proper punishment. We speak of America as a land of opportunity but we find that graspers of riches, comprising only one per cent of the population, now own more than one-half of the wealth of the country."

One great cause of crime, he declared, was the public tolerance of saloons, gambling houses and houses of ill repute.

Dean Hart said that a remedy for existing evil was the teaching of religion in public schools.

TWO CAUGHT ROBBING CITY HALL GARAGE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2. — Robert Harris and James Wilson were captured by Policeman M. M. Willerer and D. D. O'Connor immediately after they had robbed the city hall garage, 65 Fulton street, at 12:45 this morning, and booked at the city prison on a charge of burglary. The men had entered the rear door of the place and ripped off two automobile tires, valued at $125, by means of a razor.

TWO CIGAR STORES LOOTED IN SAME WAY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—Two cigar stores were robbed in the same manner last evening, evidently by the same burglar, and goods to the value of $38 stolen. D. J. Toomey of McAllister and Franklin streets, was robbed of cigars to the value of $17, and A. Newton, of 30 Golden Gate avenue, lost merchandise valued at $21.

RUEF TO FIRE HEAVIEST GUN AT THE PROSECUTION

It Is Loaded With Denial of Trolley Bribery and With Statement That Burns Sought to Force Him to Perjure Himself.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—According to the Chronicle, Abraham Ruef expects to fire his heaviest gun today, when in answer to affidavits furnished by Francis J. Heney he files counter-affidavits making sensational charges against the Spreckels-Heney prosecution, alleging attempts to suborn and coerce perjury and other nefarious practices. Ruef, it is said, will enter fully into the story of his dealings with the Spreckels prosecution, the Chronicle states, giving his own version of the negotiations which ended in the district attorney's repudiation of the immunity contract because, as Langdon said, Ruef had failed to testify as he had been expected.

But those who profess to be well informed in regard to Ruef's plans and intentions, say no counter affidavits will be filed today. They say Ruef will not reply to the affidavits of Heney, Langdon, Burns, et. al. before tomorrow or next day. They say he will take time to carefully peruse and digest those affidavits prior to making answer. Twenty-four hours would be a short time for him to do this in. Therefore his rejoinder is expected to be delayed a day or two.

What Ruef Is Expected to State.

The Chronicle's outline of what Ruef will state is extremely interesting. If correct, there can be no doubt that Ruef has finally broken off negotiations with the prosecution and decided on giving battle in earnest. Says the Chronicle:

"Ruef's story is that the graft prosecution asked him to tell under oath a story which he could not tell consistently with the facts. He says that he offered to go on the witness stand and testify truthfully to what transpired between the United Railroad officials and himself, and says bitterly that this sort of testimony was not strong enough for the prosecution. He declares that a prolonged effort was made to break him down, threats being made that, if he refused to 'come through,' in the words of Detective Burns, the immunity contract would be repudiated and he would be sent to trial straightway.

"Ruef further says that he adhered to his determination to waver not one shadow from the truth and, in anger at his obstinacy, the district attorney broke with and is now trying to punish him.

That Elastic Immunity Contract.

Ruef's immunity contract reads in such a way that either side is left doubtful as to the actual nature of the testimony expected of him. The wording of the document is such that, practically, Ruef is arbiter of the truth or falsity of his statements. No stipulation in the contract binds Ruef to tell one set story, and this is the loop-hole through which Ruef hopes to wriggle out into freedom again.

"Ruef hopes, in his affidavits, to convince the court and the public that the prosecution has not played fairly with him. He hopes to add to his own word the testimony of the rabbis, who were his advisers during the weeks of midnight conferences, and he believes that this accumulated testimony will prove that he has acted from beginning to end as an honest man, willing to testify for the State in return for immunity, but not willing, cost what it will, to go so far as to perjure himself. Ruef uses without hesitation the deadly word perjury, declaring it to be his belief that the prosecution demanded no less than this when it asked him to "reconsider" his testimony, and "remember" past events more clearly.

Denies Bribery in Trolley Matter.

"According to Ruef, nothing in his conversations with the officials of the United Railroads approached the dangerous stage of a proffer of a bribe, either to himself or through him to the city officials. He admits that he was shrewd enough to keep the conference on the high plane of "fees," and he explains plausibly that it would have been the height of folly for a man in his position to commit so grave an error as to discuss bribery in any form with men who would have been glad to use such a "break" to bring about his own undoing. He argues that, had bribery been the motive which brought the trolley representatives and himself together it would have been a fatal admission for either side. Therefore, he says triumphantly, his declaration that he never discussed the corruption of city officials with Patrick Calhoun or Tirey L. Ford must, on its face, be believed in preference to the story told by the graft prosecution."

After thus circumstantially detailing what Ruef will allege, the Chronicle rather inconsistently says the exact nature of Ruef's allegations cannot be stated. To the ordinary mind the statements appear to be precise enough for all reasonable purposes. However, Ruef's friends and attorneys only look wise and decline to discuss the truth of the Chronicle's forecast. "Wait and see" is all they will say, but their tone and manner indicate that the Chronicle has got it pretty nearly right.

CHARGES ADMIRALS WITH MISLEADING STATEMENTS

Commander Sims Confirms Reuterdahl

WASHINGTON, March 2.— Commander William S. Sims, naval aide to the President, today told the Senate committee on naval affairs that armor belts on battleships are too low and he charged Admiral Converse and Admiral Capps with making misleading statements before the committee.

Sims was confined by the committee to the question of construction of the naval vessels, but he evidenced a very strong desire to go back for many years for the purpose of showing that the constructors had persistently refused to accept suggestions. The committee declined to hear him on this point.

Commander Sims gave graphic descriptions of the open turret and the direct ammunition hoist which caused Chairman Hale to exclaim that "It was a wonder that any of the men were left alive!"

Admiral Capps was permitted to cross-examine the witness on every point brought out, but the antagonism of the two officers towards each other was such that the cross-examination brought out nothing of value.

Commander Sims, in his pointed statements regarding the low armor belts, hoists and open turrets, practically backs up Reuterdahl in the latter's attack on the navy department.

SHIP WITHOUT FUEL IN STORM

Disabled Steam Schooner Quinault Heading for Port Along Northern Coast.

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar 2.—With fuel exhausted because of battles with terrible storms off the northern coast, the steam schooner Quinault, bound to San Francisco from Gray's Harbor, has been sighted off Shelter Cove on the coast of Mendocino, attempting to make the balance of her voyage under sail.

Little headway is being made by the vessel and a tug boat will be dispatched from this port to tow her down the coast. Some days ago the Quinault, under the command of Captain Christiansen, sailed from Gray's Harbor with a cargo of lumber. In the grasp of the storm raging along the coast, the schooner could make little progress. The vessel gradually used up the supply of fuel oil and this morning the members of the crew and the skipper found themselves off Shelter Cove.

Words of the Quinault's plight have been dispatched to this city and a tow boat will be immediately rushed to her assistance.

ARRANGING PROGRAM FOR FLEET JACKIES

The executive committee on the entertainment of the fleet met this afternoon. It has been arranged with the San Francisco and Berkeley committees that the several dates for the entertainment of officers and men will not conflict. The day after the arrival of the fleet will be devoted to the entertainment of the men by San Francisco. The next day will be one of rest. On the third day the officers and men will be the guests of Oakland.

The publicity committee is contemplating having a poster made to be placed in store windows and upon the most prominent billboards denoting a welcome from Oakland to the visitors. The committee on decorations desires the streets lighted by thousands of electric lights and an illuminated arch at Fourteenth street and Broadway.

CLANDESTINE LANDING OF JAPANESE AT NAPLES

SANTA BARBRA, Mar. 2.—Report has been made to the United States Marshal at Los Angeles of the landing of seven Japanese at Naples, on the coast of Santa Barbara county, ten days ago. Five of the arrivals were said to be women dressed as men and all are reported to have gone to San Francisco. It is believed that the Japanese were landed from a tank steamer engaged in the oil trade between the Pacific Coast and Japan.

ATTEMPTS TO HOLD-UP JUDGE'S SERVANT

ALAMEDA, March 2.—Miss Marie Lafranz, a domestic in the employ of Superior Judge John Ellsworth, was followed two blocks at 11 o'clock last night by a highwayman who made an ineffectual attempt to grab her purse as she entered the Ellsorth residence at 3000 Central avenue. The young woman screamed and the man fled as Judge Ellsworth ran to the house door. The police were notified, but no trace of the would-be robber was found, as the young woman could not give a good description of him.

The Coamo left San Juan, Porto Rico, for New York on February 28. Ordinarily the vessel brings nort habout seventy-five passengers at this season of the year.

THREATENING LETTERS RECEIVED BY PRIEST

DENVER, Colo., March 2.—Anonymous letters have been received by the Rev. Father Wm. O'Ryan since he delivered the funeral oration over the body of Father Leo.

POLICE CHIEF GETS SCORING FROM PULPIT

Pastor Declares Head of Alameda Department Sets Bad Example for Youths.

ALAMEDA, March 2. — The Rev. Potter Hitchcock last night in his sermon delivered before the members of the First Congregational Church made an attack on Police Chief Conrad, declaring that the acts of the official showed that he as incompetent. The police chief, he said, was seen playing a slot machine and was therefore a bad example for the youths of the city. He said in part:

"The chief of police is expected to use his eyes on all occasions and is expected to have strength of character enough to be able to behold sin and not be contaminated by it. A chief of police with a pair of sand-blind eyes would make a better tonsorial artist than a servant of the people. At any rate, our lives, our properites, and even our reputations are not safe in the hands of a blind chief of police. He needs eyes as well as gun and billy.

Charges Neglect.

Continuing, the minister accused the chief of neglect of duty, at a time when he was fully conversant with the alleged illegal practices of some of the cigar stores.

"It is not so long ago since our chief of police stood playing at a slot machine at a local cigar store. It seems that this is the way he looks after the interest of the city and sets a good example to the boys. It takes $150 of our good money to support such a model.

"Right behind him the law was being violated and the business of gambling was being conducted almost as openly as legal business, but the chief was perfectly oblivious. No wonder these people regard him as a good chief—good for them."

CITIZENS PLEAD TO MAKE SUPERVISORIAL DISTRICT OUT OF COLLEGE CITY

Suggest Making Re-divisions of County

This afternoon at 2 o'clock there was a discussion on the part of residents of Berkeley, before the Board of Supervisors, for the purpose of so readjusting the supervisorial districts of Alameda county so as to constitute Berkeley as a district by itself and entitled to one member on the Board of Supervisors.

The representation from the University town was as follows: Lincoln Roosevelt Republican Club, Geo. H. Richardson, Chamber of Commerce, F. W. Foss; Ashby Improvement Club, G. L. Hughes; South Berkeley Improvement Club, C. E. Hedemark, East Side Improvement Club, W. E. Burden; North Berkeley Improvement Club, E. E. Newton; Peralta Improvement Club, J. J. Truman; Clairmont Improvement Club, H. P. Mackie; Conference Committee of Improvement Clubs, Stacey W. Gibbs; Fifty-second Assembly District Republican Club, Charles E. Thomas and F. W. Richardson.

Alameda, Too.

At a recent meeting of the Fifty Thousand Club of Alameda, the question of constituting that city also as a supervisorial district was discussed.

J. B. Lanktree stated that he had prepared data on the subject but that the committee to whom the matter had been submitted was not yet ready.

The supervisors present were Messrs. Mitchell, Bridge and Rowe. Supervisors Kelly and Horner were prevented from being present by illness.

The Berkeley delegation came prepared with some facts and figures showing the political standing of that part of the county.

County Surveyor Haviland was on hand with a series of maps showing the boundaries of the several assembly, senatorial and supervisoral districts in the county.

County Clerk Jack Cook had also a mass of statistics.

The law generally bearing on the creation of supervisoral districts, it was stated, sought to divide the county into five districts, each having as nearly as possible the same voting population.

To Grant Prayer.

The impression obtains that if the prayer of the people of Berkeley should be granted that the only supervisoral districts in the county which would be affected would be those of Supervisors Rowe and Mitchell respectively.

The Berkeleyans' showing was as follows:

Berkeley	4201
Alameda county	29,383
Berkeley's percentage of total Alameda County vote	149
Percentage contemplated by statute for Supervisor district	20

Assembly District Vote.

District.
46	3332
47	3947
48	3777
49	8281
50	8771
51	3840
52	4733
Total vote	23,497
Fifty-second Assembly District	4733
All Assembly Districts	23,381
Percentage of Fifty-second Assembly District	201
Percentage contemplated by statute for Supervisor District	20

52d Assembly District.

The boundaries of the Fifty-second Assembly district, which are likely to be effected by the proposed move, are as follows:

"All that portion of Alameda county bounded as follows: Commencing at the point where the southerly line of the town of Berkeley intersects the westerly boundary line of the county of Alameda, thence easterly along said southerly line of the city of Berkeley to the easterly boundary line of the town of Emeryville, thence southerly and along the boundary line between the town of Emeryville and the city of Oakland to the point where Adeline street intersects said boundary line, thence easterly along the line of Temescal Creek to Shattuck avenue, thence southerly along the center line of Shattuck avenue to Forty-fifth street, thence easterly along the center line of Forty-fifth street to Broadway, thence along the center line of Broadway to its intersection with the boundary line of the city of Oakland, thence southerly and easterly along said boundary line to the point of intersection with the westerly boundary line of Brooklyn township, thence in a general direction northerly by runs and courses county, thence westerly by runs and along the boundary line of Brooklyn township to the point where it intersects the boundary line of Alameda county, thence westerly by runs and courses along the said boundary line of Alameda county and southerly along said westerly boundary line of Alameda county to the point of beginning, shall constitute the Fifty-second Assembly district.

The matter was discussed by several citizens and Supervisors Rowe and Mitchell and then was taken under consideration.

WOMAN SWALLOWS GEMS HELD TO SECURE DEBT

Doctor Loses Diamonds and $75 Fee

Dr. Adam Lyons of Seventeenth and San Pablo avenue was beaten out of a $75 fee at noon today by Mrs. Lizzie Good, wife of a Reno gambler, she having swallowed a pair of diamond earrings valued at $90, which had been left with Dr. Lyons as security.

The woman was taken to police headquarters, but was released when Attorney Delancey, who was called by Dr. Lyons for advice, said that it would be useless to put a charge against the woman who had swallowed his fee. In speaking of the case Dr. Lyons said:

"Mrs. Good was taken ill some time back in a home at Twenty-fourth street near Grove. I was called in attendance and my bill amounted to $75. The woman gave me her earrings, valued at $90, as security. About 11 o'clock this morning Mrs. Good visited my office in company with a man who gave the name of Adam. He said he would pay the doctor's bill and take the jewels in security, provided they were pronounced genuine by an expert.

"In company with Mrs. Good and Adam I went first to Edwards' jewelry store, where the diamonds were pronounced genuine, and then to Morton's jewelry store. While in Morton's the woman took the diamonds from Adam's open hand and before I realized her intention she had swallowed them, settings and all.

"I at once called a policeman and had the man and woman taken to jail, but upon being informed by my attorney that I would be unable to secure a conviction on any charge, I concluded to drop the matter. I am out $75."

BLAZE IN NILE CLUB CAUSES EXCITEMENT

Much excitement was caused on Broadway last night by a fire which broke out in the Nile Club headquarters, Twelfth street and Broadway. The members of the club were enjoying themselves before a huge log fire when of a sudden the room was filled with smoke which rushed in clouds from the fireplace. An alarm of fire was turned in, but a fireman with a bucket of water soon extinguished the fire, which was caused by soot in the flue blazing up from the unusual heat. The damage was nominal.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL URGED BY COUNSEL FOR TEVIS TO INVESTIGATE LANGDON

District Attorney's Methods in the 'Bulletin' Libel Cases Are Denounced---State Betrayed by Him for Private Reasons, Declares His Accuser.

H. L. Packard, of counsel for W. T. Tevis, complaining witness against Fremont Older and R. A. Crothers, on trial for criminal libel, has returned to the charge against the methods of District Attorney Langdon in those cases. In a letter mailed to Attorney-General Webb, he again calls that official's attention to the conduct of the district attorney's office and suggests that a condition of administration prevails which calls for investigation and supervision by the head of the legal machinery of the State. Mr. Packard quotes from the Political Code in support of his position, and asserts that the facts disclosed in his present and previous communication bring the condition within the statute.

Packard's Letters.

Mr. Packard incloses to the attorney-general a copy of a letter written by himself yesterday to District Attorney Langdon, in which the condition of administration complained of are set forth at length.

"San Francisco, Cal., March 1, 1908.

"Hon. U. S. Webb, Attorney-General of the State of California, City. Dear Sir:

"I beg to hand you herewith a copy of a letter this day written by me to Mr. William H. Langdon, District Attorney of San Francisco.

"I find by reference to Section 470 of the Political Code that it is the duty of the Attorney-General, among other things:

"'To exercise supervisory powers over district attorneys in all matters pertaining to the duties of their offices, and from time to time require of them reports as to the condition of public business intrusted to their charge.'

"'Also,

"'When required by the public service, or directed by the Governor, to repair to any county in the State and assist the District Attorney thereof in the discharge of his duties.'

"May I be permitted to suggest that if a condition of administration calling for investigation and supervision by you ever could arise, such a condition has been laid before you in this and my previous communication. Yours very truly,

"H. L. PACKARD."

Letter to Langdon.

"San Francisco Cal., March 1, 1908.

"Hon. William H. Langdon, District Attorney of the City and County of San Francisco:

"My Dear Sir—Certain facts have come to my knowledge from the newspapers of this morning which are of the same general nature as other facts, concerning which I have intended for several days past to address you.

"In order that I may point out their true significance, it is necessary here to set down other facts, the relevancy of which will be apparent before this letter is concluded.

"The movement commonly called the 'graft prosecution' began in October, 1906. The purpose of that movement, so you have said, was to investigate charges of criminal conduct on the part of public officers and persons dealing or having relations with them, and the prosecution of such of them as were shown to be guilty.

"In this so-called 'graft prosecution' you have had the assistance of at least two attorneys not otherwise connected with your office: Mr. Francis J. Heney and Mr. Hiram W. Johnson. Mr. Heney's connection with the prosecution was made formally official by his appointment as an assistant district attorney—an office which he has held under commission from you for nearly eighteen months, and which he still holds. Mr. Johnson, while not formally appointed an assistant district attorney, assumed the relations of attorney, not to Mr. Spreckels, nor to Mr Phelan, but to the people of the State of California.

Owed Fidelity to State.

"Whatever may be said of the abuse by Mr. Spreckels of the position which he has occupied as the financier and manager of the so-called 'graft prosecution,' no one of his employes and particularly no attorney employed to render services to the prosecution can claim that he was simply Mr. Spreckels' attorney; for by whomsoever employed, he became the agent or attorney for and owed fidelity not to Mr. Spreckels but to the people of the State.

"The relations of Mr. Spreckels himself to the 'graft prosecution' have been such that he has likewise incurred obligations of fidelity to the people of the State of California.

"In this matter the only difference between those who are not attorneys and those who are is, that the latter are amenable to discipline and correction in the courts for breach of duty, whereas those who are not attorneys are not so amenable.

"Among the matters investigated in the course of the so-called 'graft prosecution' was a proposal by the Bay Cities Water Company to sell a water supply to San Francisco; and on the day after he pleaded guilty to extortion—namely, on May 18, 1907—Mr. Ruef was a witness before the Grand Jury and is supposed to have testified upon this subject.

"What the facts were to which Mr. Ruef so testified I, of course, do not know, nor is there any occasion here to speculate concerning that testimony.

Basis for Attack on Tevis.

"I am satisfied that it can be shown however, that Mr. Heney, Mr. Johnson, Detective Burns, Mr. Spreckels, Mr. Phelan and Mr. Older learned what this testimony was at or shortly after the time when it was given and that it was immediately used in the Bulletin as a basis for an attack upon Mr. Tevis. In fact, it does not admit of dispute that all of the information that the Bulletin had used for its attacks upon Mr. Tevis has been acquired by it from your associates and agents, who in turn have obtained the information while serving or claiming to serve the State.

"It is hardly necessary for me to point out that information so acquired by agents of the State cannot in law or morals be thereafter used by those agents against the State—which is the spectacle about to be presented in the case against Mr. Crothers and Mr. Older, now on trial in the Superior Court of San Francisco.

"You are well aware that Mr. Tevis has instituted in Kern county criminal prosecutions against Mr. Crothers and Mr. Older for the publications made in the Bulletin concerning him and the Bay Cities project; and that the present criminal proceedings in San Francisco were commenced by E. P. Troy, an enemy of Mr. Tevis' and a friend of the Bulletin, after consultation with and obviously upon the procurement of Daniel C. Murphy, who is known to every one familiar with affairs in San Francisco as the intimate, personal, legal and political agent of James D. Phelan.

Man Who Brought Action.

"We thus find that the man who caused this proceeding to be commenced is one who has been in daily and constant association and co-operation with the very persons against whom a prosecution is stimulated.

"Obviously the proceeding was commenced, not for the conviction of the defendants, but for their acquittal. The entire proceeding was a mere subterfuge, intended to afford a channel for the gratification of private malice and to subserve private ends. Indeed, Mr Troy has testified in open court that the chief purpose of the prosecution was to establish the superiority of one proposed water supply over another.

"Mr. Phelan and his confederates, however, have reckoned without their host. For it is a matter of no trivial consequence thus to pervert the machinery of the law and to invoke the name and authority of the people of the State of California for base private purposes.

"The gentlemen who have acquired information in the service of the State will find that it is forbidden by every canon of law and morals for them to turn the information so acquired against the State. And that this is what is being done clearly appears to those who take the trouble to follow the proceedings of the case again the Bulletin now on trial.

Johnson's Dual Position.

"What do we there find? We find Mr. Hiram W. Johnson, heretofore an attorney for the people of the State of California, now appearing as counsel for the Bulletin against the State in a criminal case which involves matters with which seemingly Mr. Johnson became familiar while acting as an attorney for the State. Unless the facts are different from what on the surface they seem to be, Mr. Johnson was disqualified from accepting employment by the Bulletin in the case on trial. His reputation for high character and integrity precludes the possibility that he could consciously violate his duty as an attorney.

"It is therefore to be assumed that his employment by the Bulletin is to be justified or explained by the one or the other of two facts: either there are some unknown circumstances below the surface by which Mr. Johnson is freed from the obligation not to take employment against the State in this particular case, or Mr. Johnson has overlooked the fact that his services, although procured and paid, or promised to be paid for by Mr. Spreckels, were nevertheless services to be rendered to the people of the State of California, and which created the relation of attorney and client between Mr. Johnson and the State.

Should Dismiss Case.

"As suggested to you in a previous letter, there lies in your hands a remedy as obvious as it is effective—not only to prevent the further perversion of the law and the misuse of the courts of law, but to avoid even a seeming impropriety in permitting a continuance of Mr. Johnson's present position. That remedy is a prompt dismissal by you of the pretended prosecution, for which, as District Attorney, you stand responsible, or (if this course be impracticable for any reason), a refusal to further lend your official aid to the conduct of a case thus initiated by the friends of the accused and conceived with the object not of vindicating the law, but of prostituting it to private ends.

"These latter considerations, it would seem, should themselves afford sufficient ground for a refusal to permit the continued use of your office in furtherance of this plan. There is present, however, the additional circumstance, to which I have already referred—namely, that one who for more than a year past has been recognized and treated by you as an accredited attorney for the State is found in this case with all of the information and knowledge which that recognition and treatment has enabled him to obtain, acting in the defense of the persons accused by the State of a crime involving matters to which that knowledge must relate or on which it has at least a decided bearing.

Not to Be Tolerated.

"I do not suppose that you would for a moment tolerate the appearance of one of your regular deputies as attorney for the 'Bulletin' in the present case; or that you deputy, Mr. O'Gara (to use his name in illustration), would accept such employment. It is equally true, I assume, that you would not permit Mr. Heney, who holds your commission as assistant District Attorney, if within your power to prevent it, to appear, and that he would not accept direct employment from the 'Bulletin' in the case now on trial.

"Why, then, should Mr. Johnson be permitted to do so?

"And why should two other men who have been and are in association with you in what you claim to be the work of the State be permitted to range themselves with the 'Bulletin' against the State in the case now on trial?

"I refer to Mr. Burns and Mr. Spreckels.

"Mr. Burns acted as your detective for the State and has been clothed by you with all of the authority which a district attorney can give to a detective. In his capacity as a detective he is possessed of all secrets of the State, including those which relate to the Bay Cities Water Company and to Mr. Tevis. In addition he seems to possess a stenographic report of all proceedings taken before the grand jury, including those which relate to the Bay Cities Water Company. To what use is he putting this information, thus acquired by him as the accredited agent of the District Attorney of San Francisco, and, through him, of the people of the State of California?

"In violation of his duty of fidelity to his principal and in plain defiance of the law, he is using that information to aid and abet the Bulletin in defeating a criminal prosecution by the State against the proprietor and managing editor of the Bulletin.

Have Grand Jury Testimony.

"The most shocking instance of this perversion of confidence and violation of law has been made known in an interview given by your assistant, Mr. Cook, in the newspapers of today, from which it is learned that the Bulletin attorneys have had, and now have, in their possession a copy of the testimony taken before the grand jury in the Bay Cities matters. That testimony has never been made public in any legal way, and its delivery to the Bulletin from your offices (presumably by Mr. Burns) is in manifest disregard to the law and inexcusable from any respect.

"My client would have made no complaint against the publication of this testimony by the District Attorney, and that the testimony is not what the Bulletin has pretended it to be is shown by the fact that a Grand Jury very much under control of the so-called 'graft prosecution' neither returned nor attempted to return any indictment thereunder.

"My only motive in calling attention to the testimony is to show how the administration of the criminal law is being prostituted to subserve private ends. As you know, there is no way that Mr. Tevis could get a copy of this testimony if he desired it, although your agent (presumably Mr. Burns) has already furnished a copy to the Bulletin.

Position of Burns.

"In this connection may we not inquire, is Mr. Burns during the remainder of his life to exploit and farm out information confidentially acquired as an employee of your office and is he to peddle the confidence of the State for good fellowship or for money to whomsoever may be inclined to give either of these considerations in return therefor?

"Is he to be restrained from the use of the evidence oral and documentary thus acquired by no consideration of propriety nor any provisions of law?

"I note in an interview had with you and published in the papers of yesterday that you disclaim responsibility for Mr. Burns. Let me point out that you cannot evade that responsibility.

"While he is permitted to hold documentary evidence which belongs to the district attorney's office, it is not open to you to say that you are not responsible for the acts of Mr. Burns.

"It is an elementary principle of law, as you know, that a ratification of past acts is equivalent to precedent authorization. It is impossible, either in law or morals, for you to deny responsibility for the conduct of Mr. Burns if, after knowledge that he has violated his duty as an employee of the State, you nevertheless continue him in that employment.

Say Same of Spreckels.

"The same may be said of Mr. Spreckels.

"He has received confidences of the State by your authority, and has from time to time communicated those confidences to Mr. Phelan and Mr. Older. So long as he associates with you for an apparently public purpose, and you abdicate official duties in his favor, you must remain responsible for his conduct.

"It is impossible for you to give him a commission for the future and repudiate him for his conduct in the past.

"To conclude, the situation as I see it is this: Your office is now engaged in a prosecution of the Bulletin, inaugurated by James D. Phelan, whose purpose and object were not bona fide. One of your assistants has had committed to him the conduct of this prosecution. And on the other side, behind the defense, are James D. Phelan, the man who inaugurated the prosecution, and your former associate and colleague, Mr. Johnson. With them are your employee, Mr. Burns, and your associate, Mr. Spreckels.

"Do you like the spectacle?

"And if you do not, and it has been thrust upon you through misrepresentation, deception or suppression, is there any course open to you but to dismiss the proceeding?

"If you authorize the continuance of the farce no inference remains open but that you agree to the entire program in advance.

Decisions Cited.

"In conclusion, not so much for their direct application, but for the suggestions which may be drawn from them, operating in analogy, let me call to your attention two decisions of the Supreme Court of California. The first was rendered in 1882, and is reported in 61 Cal. 126. There the defendant, an attorney-at-law, had been the district attorney of one of the counties of this State. While district attorney he drew an indictment against a person accused of crime, and seven years afterwards appeared in the action as attorney for the defendant. The court held that his conduct was reprehensible and a violation of his duty as an attorney. He was therefore suspended from practice for a period of three months.

"In the course of the decision the court said:

"'Neither his ignorance of the law nor the crudity of his notions of professional ethics can excuse an offense against professional propriety by one whose duty it is to assist in the administration of justice.'

"The second decision was rendered in 1886 and is reported in 69 Cal. 32. In that case the lawyer had been City Attorney of San Francisco, and as such represented the city and county in certain cases. After his term of office expired he made an agreement with the adverse parties that he would not allow himself to be retained by the city and county in those cases on appeal. It was decided that he was not discharged from the duty of fidelity to the city and county by the expiration of his term of office, and that the agreement not to be retained was a violation of his duty. He also was suspended from practice for a period of six months.

Must Not Be Farmed Out.

"All attorneys, and indeed all agents and associates of public officers engaged in the prosecution of persons charged with crime, may profitably read this decision.

"I may say in conclusion that the lesson to be drawn from this condition of affairs in San Francisco is that the administration of the criminal law of the State should never be farmed out to private [illegible] well expressed by the Supreme Court of Wisconsin in 1888, in Biemel vs. State, 71 Wis., 444, 37 N. W. 244, where the court said:

"'We think public policy, and the fair, just and impartial administration of the criminal law of the State make it the duty of the courts to exclude the paid attorneys of private persons from appearing as prosecutors.'

"Very truly yours,

"H. L. PACKARD."

NOTED HORSEMAN IS BEING TREATED FOR HYDROPHOBIA

Was Bitten by a Mad Dog at His Home Last Week.

CHICAGO, March 2.—John Splan, the trotting horseman, arrived in Chicago yesterday for treatment for hydrophobia and is now at the Pasteur institute.

He was bitten by a mad dog on Friday while at Lexington, Ky. The head of the dog which bit him was taken to Dr. A. Lagorio, head of the institute, and, after an examination the physician announced that the animal certainly had hydrophobia. Mr. Splan was put under treatment immediately. No bad symptoms have developed in this case, and there is every reason to expect his recovery.

Three other persons were bitten at the same time Mr. Splan suffered his injury.

Dyspepsia is America's curse. Burdock Blood Bitters conquers dyspepsia every time. It drives out impurities, tones the stomach, restores perfect digestion, normal weight, and good health.

S.S.S. RIDS THE SYSTEM OF CATARRH

Even in its early stages Catarrh is a most distressing ailment, caused by the stuffy feeling in the head, ringing noises in the ears, watery eyes, difficult breathing, continual "hawking and spitting," etc., but when the blood becomes thoroughly saturated with the impurities which produce the disease it becomes a serious and often dangerous disorder. Then the bronchial tubes are attacked, the bladder and kidneys diseased, and often the lungs become affected by the constant passage of impure blood through them and Catarrh terminates in Consumption. The impurities and poisons in the blood which produce Catarrh can never be removed through the use of sprays, inhalations, washes, etc. Such treatment cannot reach the real cause, and their use alone should never be depended on to cure the disease. S. S. S. cures Catarrh by cleansing the blood of all impure catarrhal matter. It goes down and attacks the disease at its head, in the circulation, and removes every trace of the impurity that is causing the trouble. Then as rich, purified blood is carried to all parts of the system the symptoms gradually leave, the health is improved, and S. S. S. makes a permanent cure of the trouble. ASK RAILWAYS TO CARRY JACKIES FREE

Committee Expects to Realize $10,000 by Entertainments at State University.

BERKELEY, Mar. 2.—W. B. Scott, general manager of the Southern Pacific railway, told the transportation committee of the fleet reception committee Saturday night that his company would do everything in its power to assist. Scott stated that as a resident of Berkeley he was interested in seeing the event a success and he believed it would be.

The committee asked Scott to transport the blue jackets to and from Berkeley free of charge. The railway man said he could make only a tentative reply, that his company would meet any concessions that were reasonable and possible and agreed to by the Key Route. At the same time, the committee learned that the capacity of each road for hauling people across the bay is limited. The ferry system might be equal to any rush, but it would be impossible to operate more than six extra trains an hour over the present schedule on each road and this could only be performed at great cost and effort to the transportation people. The transportation committee will interview the officials of the Key Route today in order that they may be able to tell Scott what concessions the opposition system is willing to make.

Expect over 20,000.

Estimates of the number of people expected vary from 20,000 to 30,000. Of this number one-third is expected to be men of the navy, the remainder being made up of tourists and excursionists.

The finance committee has decided to make an appeal for popular subscriptions for money to defray the preliminary preparations of the entertainment. Six solicitors began work this morning among the business men. One of the surprising results of their work the first hour was two subscriptions of $100 each from Japanese residents. The committee is assured that other large donations will come from other Japanese, and the Chinese have indicated their willingness to do their share. The finance committee has calculated that at least $2500 will be needed within the next few days to provide souvenirs and poster advertising.

Chairman Charles H. Spear says there will be no difficulty in obtaining all the money needed. From the entertainments to be given at the Greek Theater and on California Field over $10,000 is expected This, in connection with the money subscribed by the citizens, it is believed, will cover the entire cost of the reception.

The publicity committee has organized with Eugene R. Hallett as chairman and H. S. Howard as secretary.

There will be a general meeting of the executive committee this evening.

MORAL SANITATION AS NECESSARY AS PHYSICAL

ALAMEDA, March 2.—"Sense, Science and Sanitation" was the topic of the Rev. F. S. Burns for his sermon delivered at the First Presbyterian Church last night. He declared that there was moral as well as physical sanitation and that it was the duty of the police officials to care for the youths of the city and keep them from being polluted just as the health officials watched for the appearance of a dread disease and attempted to prevent its spread. He said in part:

"The State and city owe the same obligation with regard to moral plague spots. This principle is not called in question by anyone. There are scores of laws on our statute books that are for this purpose. Such are all laws against gambling and selling liquors to minors and similar ordinances. They all assume that the State has a duty to perform and the way of preventing the spread of moral corruption. The hope of the nation is in keeping the youth free from contamination."

TO HAVE A NINE-COURSE DINNER AT NINE SORORITIES

BERKELEY, March 2.—Nearly three score freshmen girls of the State University will do a novel social "stunt" this afternoon. Headed by their class president, the first year co-eds have undertaken to spend the hours from 5 to 9 o'clock in eating an elaborate nine-course dinner, one course to be eaten at each of the nine sorority houses about the campus.

The sorority girls in each house will be hosts for half an hour in turn and have provided appropriate menus for the portion of the feast they were delegated to serve. When the girls enjoy their punch and sherbet at the Kappa Alpha Theta home at the conclusion of this bizarre way of dining it is expected that they will have successfully inaugurated a novel and what promises to be a popular social feature in college life.

The feast begins at the Tri-Delta house at 5 o'clock with Miss Clara Einhorn in charge of the affair.

Among the girls who will enjoy the unique dinner are:

Marion Craig, Clara Einhorn, Cheryl Merrill, Hope Mathews, Florence Pardee, Grace Downing, Alice Philips, Emmalita Mayhew, Mabel Clinch, Elizabeth Isabelle Whitman, Edith Howard, Gertrude Denny, Hazel Nolting, Belle Hart, Florence Hoffman, Louise Howard, Ethel Bishop, Rebecca Dorsey, Helen Davis Bancroft, Florence Berry, Helen Dickinson, Anita Ebner, Edith Harmon, Genevieve Goodacre, Beulah Bridges, Florence Newell, Florence Alvarez, Minette Stoddard, Mildred Stoddard, Alice Cutter, Netha Hall, Geneva Watson, Lucile Kistler, Em Lou Frisble, May Scott, Eleanor Baldwin, Ruth Slack and Mary Linlay, belonging to the following sororities: Alpha Omicron Pi, Alpha Phi, Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Delta Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Pi Beta Phi.

TAFT'S BROTHER TO BE REPUBLICAN DELEGATE

"No Slate" Is Announcement Made for State Convention in Ohio.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 2.—With the arrival of the morning trains, the army of politicians who are to take part in the State convention Tuesday was heavily increased. By night it is expected that the city will be filled to overflowing. The announcement that there will be "no slate," no prearrangement of any kind and that the nominations for the various offices will be the result of a free-for-all fight and the prizes for anybody who can get them, has greatly stimulated the interest in the convention.

The only offices for which there will not be a struggle are Governor, where Governor Harris has no opposition, Secretary of State, where the present incumbent, Carmi A. Thompson will be named by acclamation, and Dairy and Food Commissioner, for which Rennick W. Dunlap will have a walk away.

To Renominate Judges.

It is also highly probable that Judges John A. Schaick and James L. Price, present members of the Supreme Court, will be nominated, although Judge Wildman of Norwalk is also a candidate.

The four delegates at large to the Republican National Convention have been selected and there will be no opposition. They will be Governor Harris, Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland, Arthur I. Vorys of Lancaster, the political manager of the Taft campaign, and Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, the brother of the Secretary of War.

The platform will be short. The draft of it has been approved by Secretary Taft and Attorney General Wade Ellis is now polishing up the literary side of it. The present subject of acute discussion in relation to the platform is whether mention shall be made of Senators Forker and Dick and the character of such mention

WORLDCONSCIENCE CALLS WAR CRIME

Dr. Vosburgh Pleads for Peace; Armaments Cost Nations $2,000,000,000 a Year.

"The coming of the United States fleet to the Pacific coast is no indication of war, because the nations have learned that from an economic standpoint war is too costly," said the Rev. Homer J. Vosburgh, in his sermon on "War and Peace" at the First Baptist Church yesterday morning.

Referring to the visit of Admiral Evans' battleships, Dr. Vosburgh continued: "We are called upon to think anew upon the great question of war and peace. Has not the time come for the nations more seriously to grapple with the vast social, international and economic problem involved in war? Opposition to war is not recent, it is as old as the history of ethical thought. It is not confined to visionaries, but is the determined attitude of the foremost statesmen of the world. The ideal of a peaceful world was first proclaimed by the prophets of ancient Israel and has been advocated with increasing intelligence and enthusiasm until the Hague court was established as the final outcome of a long and memorable struggle.

"The conscience of the world long ago condemned war. Men are now seeing its colossal economic costliness. The items that enter into the cost of war are numerous. First is the direct cost, the wars of the nineteenth century costing over $40,000,000,000. Second is the destruction of property that equals at least one-half the direct cost. Third is the economic loss sustained through loss of many valuable lives, an item that equals the first cost of warfare. Fourth is the interest on war debts and pensions to old soldiers, an item which again equals the first cost of war. To these items must be added two others that cannot even be approximated. One is the financial loss involved in the derangements of the entire economic process, and the other is the permanent loss involved through killing off large numbers of the nations' most desirable and productive men.

Two Billions a Year.

"The foregoing statements relate to the cost of actual warfare. To all this must be added the cost of maintaining our vast military and naval armaments in times of peace. At present the nations of the world are expending nearly $2,000,000,000 annually in maintaining vast equipments and the bills are rising every year. These enormous war bills are alarming publicists and financiers and they have added their arguments to those of the moralists against war.

"Money and human life are both too valuable to be wasted. The great work of the world demands both men and money. There are vast tasks yet to be done and we need all the vigorous men possible with all the money honorably attainable. The United States has had a conspicuous record in opposing war and in promoting arbitration. Our country now has a signal opportunity to lead the nations to the realization of the ideal of a peaceful world."

A Sickening Spectacle

(From the San Francisco Leader.)

We have always had much respect for Judge Dooling, and we are sorry to see him sitting in such a chair of pestilence as Judge Dunne's tribunal.

No one should know better than Judge Dooling the character of Dunne. To give that wretched little renegade aid and comfort in any shape is to be a traitor to common decency.

Especially to sit for him in such a case as is now being played in Department 6 is to render Judge Dooling suspect before all honest men.

Judge Dooling was not bound to try a case which became too nasty for the strong stomach of Dunne. Can it be that no other judge in California would touch the mess? How comes it that all the tools of injustice have Irish names? Are we to believe that the descendants of all the Irish informers have broken into the California Bar?

The case before Department 6 is one of the most scandalous insults to justice ever prepetrated here or anywhere else. Some time ago the Bulletin, published in San Francisco, wrote an article on a person named Tevis, who lives in Bakersfield. Tevis claimed that the article was libelous. He brought suit against the Bulletin in Bakersfield. In the natural course of affairs the trial would be held there.

It appears that in this wonderful California law of ours there is a provision that a libel suit can be brought either in the county of the libeller or in the county of the libellee. It also appears that any third party can butt in and demand that the District Attorney's office bring a suit for libel somewhere else. The why and the wherefore of these extraordinary provisions we do not know, but apparently they exist.

Now, the Bulletin was afraid to go to trial in Bakersfield, where it had no influence, and preferred to go to trial in San Francisco, where it conducts a blacklist for judges and lawyers. Moreover, it owns several of the departments of the Superior Court, and naturally would like to be tried in the house of its friends.

Accordingly, we find that the spirit moved the celebrated E. P. E. Troy to butt in. E. P. E. B. I. Toy demanded that Langdon, the District Attorney, bring suit against that malefactor, the Bulletin, for libelling Tevis. Langdon was willing. As a result we had the wonderful spectacle of the hired man of the graft prosecution bringing suit against the hired organ of the graft prosecution at the demand of E. P. E. B. I. Troy, a vermiform appendix of the graft prosecution, before Pontius Pilate Dunne, the pocket judge of the graft prosecution.

Pontius Pilate, however, has some shrewd political managers, who roared to beat the band when they found their puppet unashamed in such flagrant circumstances. He is to come up for reelection next fall, and the strong stomach of San Francisco has almost reached the limit of toleration. Accordingly, he was pulled down, and Judge Dooling was weak enough or shortsighted enough to take his place.

Judge Dooling must knew what every child in California cannot fail to see, that this suit is merely brought to exonerate the Bulletin. It is a travesty on justice. It is an insult to the law. If we had an Attorney-General worth his salt E. P. E. B. I. V. A. Troy and the conspirators who are using him would long since have been laid by the heels in the common jail.

Quite rightly, Tevis and his attorney have refused to appear in the case. The whole thing now is in the hands of the graft. Even the Examiner is shocked by the spectacle.

"During the proceedings yesterday (Wednesday) RUDOLPH SPRECKELS AND DETECTIVE WILLIAM BURNS OCCUPIED SEATS IN COURT BESIDE THE DEFENDANTS AND CONFERRED WITH THEM. Thus the unusual spectacle was afforded of men who for more than a year and a half past have been advertised as in the employ and counsels of the District Attorney openly siding with the defendants in a criminal case brought in the name of the people of the State of California and prosecuted, ostensibly, by the District Attorney.

"Yesterday Assistant District Attorney Cook, the sole prosecuting officer who has appeared in the case so far, said that while the name of 'W. H. Langdon' would have better appeared in the information in the space allotted to it the signature of an assistant was legally sufficient.

"Just before adjournment yesterday Judge Dooling, while announcing his perfect indifference to the outcome of the trial, asked whether steps had been taken to secure the attendance in court of W. S. Tevis and his Bakersfield attorney, H. L. Packard, who created a sensation last week by declining Langdon's invitation to appear in the case as special counsel for the prosecution on the ground that the suit was collusive."

And these are the cattle that talk about good government and a clean judiciary.

Pfaugh! Let us with one mind and both hands hold our noses.

IRISH-AMERICAN CLUB PLANS TO ENTERTAIN THE SAILORS

An extensive field day for the entertainment of the enlisted men of the battleship fleet has been planned by the members of the Irish-American Athletic Club. The Irish Athletic organization is not going to be behind in the entertainment of the fleet and has arranged a field meet for the first couple of days that the fleet will be here. A committee composed of J. Downey Harvey and R. T. Tobin was appointed to confer with the committee on the entertainment of the enlisted men of the battleship fleet with reference to the program to be pulled off as an attraction to the enlisted men.

The gathering last evening included the most prominent Irish athletes from the vicinity and the enthusiasm displayed is an assurance that this city will, within a short period, have an athletic club the equal of the famous Irish-American Athletic Club of New York, which boasts of such champions as Martin Sheridan, John Flanagan, Dennis Horgan, J. P. Sullivan and Con Leahy.

Nominations for directors of the club to be voted upon at the next meeting were made at last night's assembly, and the registration of all the athletes in the club was discussed to the extent that all of the Irish-American athletes will procure cards in the Pacific Athletic Association.

HEMORRHAGE COSTS HOSTLER HIS LIFE

Thomas Rice, a hostler employed at 611 Broadway, about 50 years of age, died last night at 12 o'clock from hemorrhage of the lungs. The body is at the morgue. The man was found in an unconscious condition on the sidewalk in front of the premises at 801 Grove street at 11:30 o'clock last night by Sam Frank and Harry Selkand, of that address. He was removed to the hospital for treatment but was dead when placed on the operating table.

H. L. Harrison, a laborer living with his wife and four children at 100 Laurel street, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Harrison, turned over to Policeman O'Reilly and taken to the city prison on a charge of choking and otherwise abusing his wife.

Policeman O'Reilly was attracted to the Harrison home by the cries of the woman for help. Upon his arrival at the place, Mrs. Harrison placed her hands on her husband's shoulders, placing him under arrest, according to the instructions of the policeman and Harrison was taken away to jail and charged with battery. Mrs. Harrison says that she has lived in fear of her husband for some time past. He has frequently abused her by choking her. She says she was fearful that Harrison intended to harm their children and called for the police.

ANNUAL BALL BANK INSTITUTE

Oakland Chapter Prepares for One of the Big Events of Social Season.

The first annual ball of Oakland Chapter, American Institute of Banking will be given in Maple hall tomorrow night and will undoubtedly prove to be one of the biggest social events of the season. Primarily the object of the affair is to raise a fund sufficiently large to permit the chapter to furnish its meeting and club rooms in the Oakland Clearing House building, but its importance as a social event has never been lost sight of, and John F. Hassler, Leo V. Belden and Charles J. Feehan, composing the committee in charge, report greater progress than was at first thought possible by the chapter members. Kenneth A. Millican, secretary of the chapter, has also given aid to the committee of arrangements.

The warm support which bank officials have given the institute ever since its organization is an indication of the interest they take in their employes. While in eastern cities, the work of the various chapters has been technical education. In Oakland the aim has been to combine the social with the educational. The large hall in the rear of the Clearing house building will be remodeled and furnished along club lines. The general effect will be in red as regards tinting, carpet and draperies, while all wood work, including the proposed beamed ceiling, will be of weathered oak, mission style.

The special reception committee consists of P. G. Jacobul, Harbor bank; J. S. Killam, Union Savings bank; Earl E. Bogardus, Bank of Germany; H. R. Mead, Berkeley National bank, Percy B. Scott, California bank, Percy B. Hardenbergh, Central bank; David J. Clark, Citizens Bank of Alameda; S. C. Scott, Farmers' and Merchants' bank; C. C. Everett, First National bank of Berkeley, A. C. Pressley Jr., First National bank of Oakland; J. A. Hallihan, Oakland Bank of Savings; G. F. Dieckmann, Security Bank and Trust Co.; W. B. Kennedy, State Savings Bank; Frank McBurney, Union National bank.

LABORER ROBBED BY TWO WOMEN

While in the Embrace of One, Her Companion Takes Gold From His Pocket.

John Jasper, a laborer, of 740 Willow street, was assaulted and robbed by two colored women last night at Fifth and Peralta streets, $20 in gold being taken from his pocket. The women succeeded in making their escape after relieving their victim of his coin.

According to the report made to the police, Jasper was on his way home when the women stopped him, asking for a match. Jasper was about to comply with the request when one of the women threw her arms about his neck while her companion hurriedly searched him, taking the money from his pocket. The women then took to their heels and soon outdistanced Jasper, who gave chase. Jasper has given a description of his assailants to the police.

READS LIKE A ROMANCE

Experience of Syracuse Man.

Mr. Wm. I. Brown of Syracuse, N. Y., says: "Four years ago I contracted a severe lung trouble.

"Doctors in Fenton Hospital, Utica, gave me up—said no hope. I continued to fail until I only weighed 98 pounds. They sent me home from the hospital saying they could do nothing for me.

"Later I saw Vinol advertised, and I immediately began taking it. I improved after the first bottle so continued its use for three months. Today I weigh 157 pounds and am well and healthy. I really believe Vinol saved my life."

The reason Vinol accomplishes such surprising results is because Vinol is a combination of the curative elements of two world famed tonics, cod liver oil and peptonate-of-iron, but shorn of all useless oil or grease.

Vinol is made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate-of-iron all the medicinal-healing, body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil to upset the stomach and retard its work.

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, after sickness, and for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis, and all throat and lung troubles, Vinol is unexcelled.

We ask Oakland people to try it on our offer to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction. The Owl Drug Co., Oakland, Calif.

ANOTHER SALE OF SPRING SILKS

The words "SILK SALE," when applied to our house, suffice to throng this department on the day specified with eager buyers. This sale is no whit behind any of its predecessors. In fact, it has been planned for a long time and we have awaited the arrival of these Spring Silks with as much impatience as our customers.

Tuesday, March the Third is the date set for selling out about TWENTY-FIVE HUNDRED yards of the prettiest Spring Silks we could find in the New York market.

They represent the newest of colorings, and may be had in plaids, checks and stripes, light and dark colors, suitable for Waists or Suits.

Although they were originally manufactured to sell at much higher prices, we have marked them all at a uniform price for this sale.

The Prostitution of the Courts.

The letter addressed to District Attorney Langdon by H. L. Packard in relation to the collusive and fraudulent prosecution of Fremont Older and R. A. Crothers is an illuminating and instructive document. It is a clear, dispassionate statement of facts which convey their own lesson. While the facts stated convincingly expose the prostitution of the San Francisco District Attorney's office to base and malignant private designs opposed at every point to the principles of justice and the impartial enforcement of law, they are a stinging reproach to Judge Dooling of San Benito, who has demeaned himself and derogated his high position to the extent of presiding at a mock, collusive trial prompted and conducted with intent to defeat the ends of justice and travesty of judicial inquiry.

Judge Dooling cannot close his eyes to obvious facts. He may pretend to ignore matters of common knowledge and the teachings of common sense, but he cannot conscientiously do so. After the character of the proceeding before him has been made plain to all men of understanding, he cannot continue to give it his countenance without putting himself in the same class with Judges Dunne and Lawlor and dragging his hitherto unspotted reputation, along with the ermine, in the dirt.

But the exposure made by Mr. Packard only covers one phase of the peculiar operations of Spreckels, Heney, Burns, Langdon, Johnson et al. In some respects the proceedings in regard to the libel of Luther Brown by Older and Crothers in the Bulletin is still more flagrant. That libel was printed obviously to prejudice the case of former Attorney-General Tirey L. Ford, then on trial before Judge Lawlor. It was a grossly false and defamatory statement, as the Bulletin has since acknowledged.

Yet when Older was arrested on a warrant issued in Los Angeles, the home of Brown, Heney, Burns and the whole pack rushed to the defense of Older. Although the warrant was regularly issued in accordance with the penal statutes and properly endorsed by a judge of the San Francisco Superior Court, the whole band of private prosecutors set up the cry that the arrest of Older was a case of kidnaping. The basis of this flimsy accusation was that Older claimed that his captors denied his request to be taken before the nearest magistrate. Brown and Porter Ashe emphatically deny that any such request was made, and their word is surely as good as Older's.

But that is not to the point. The so-called graft prosecution had Older taken from the train at Santa Barbara on a writ of habeas corpus, and has ever since thrown around him every protection they have been able to afford. Heney fumed and telegraphed to the magistrate in Los Angeles that he was coming down to defend Older, although he was forbidden by law to appear as counsel for a defendant in a criminal action, holding, as he did and does, a commission as Assistant District Attorney. But his law partner, another special attorney for the Spreckels private prosecution, took upon himself the defense (in court) of Older. Heney went before the pliant Oliver grand jury and had Luther Brown and his attorney, Porter Ashe, indicted on a charge of kidnaping. Detective Burns, at whose instance the libel was published, has been active in Older's behalf. His conduct in the Brown matter was the same as his conduct in the Tevis matter—that of a supple, unscrupulous intriguer against private right and the decent administration of justice.

As Mr. Packard makes clear, Older prints vicious personal attacks on persons singled out by Spreckels and Phelan, and is then protected from punishment by Heney, Burns, Langdon, Johnson & Co. Judge Dooling is apparently assisting in the game, as Judges Lawlor and Dunne have been doing from the start. A more shocking and demoralizing debasement of judicial power and judicial procedure can hardly be imagined. It is a disgrace to all concerned in it and a lasting shame to California jurisprudence. It impeaches alike the integrity of the bench and the manhood of the bar of the State.

How long is the thing to continue? How long is conspiracy to control criminal administration and defile the processes of courts to be tolerated? It is now up to Attorney-General Webb.

Stirring Up Trouble.

John Sergeant Wise has been famous in many ways and consistently admired for many years. Why he should seek to put a "chip on his shoulder" by trying to belittle the Puritan fathers, as he did before the Historical Society in Chicago, is a mystery. He is a Scotch-Irishman from Virginia, where his father was a governor. His subject was "An Historical Review of the Conceits and False Claims of the Cavaliers and Puritans of America."

"The modern Puritan who stands in old Faneuil Hall and boasts of his ancestry seems to forget that the Pilgrims came from Holland and were of a lower type than the settlers in the other parts of Massachusetts," said Mr. Wise. "The Virginia cavalier exulting in his self-famed ancestry looked with contempt upon the New Englander.

"The soldiers of the North and South learned to overlook these imaginary prejudices and to admire each other's staying qualities."

Imagine the wail which will go up in Boston when these statements have had time to become absorbed by the cultured of that place—the city which calls itself the Athens of America. Just wait until the Bostonese begin to talk about the mixed Indian foundations of Virginia society and commence to prate on the convict settlements of that staid old State.

Then watch the firing line begin to start in New York when the proud Knickerbocker commences to tell where he stands.

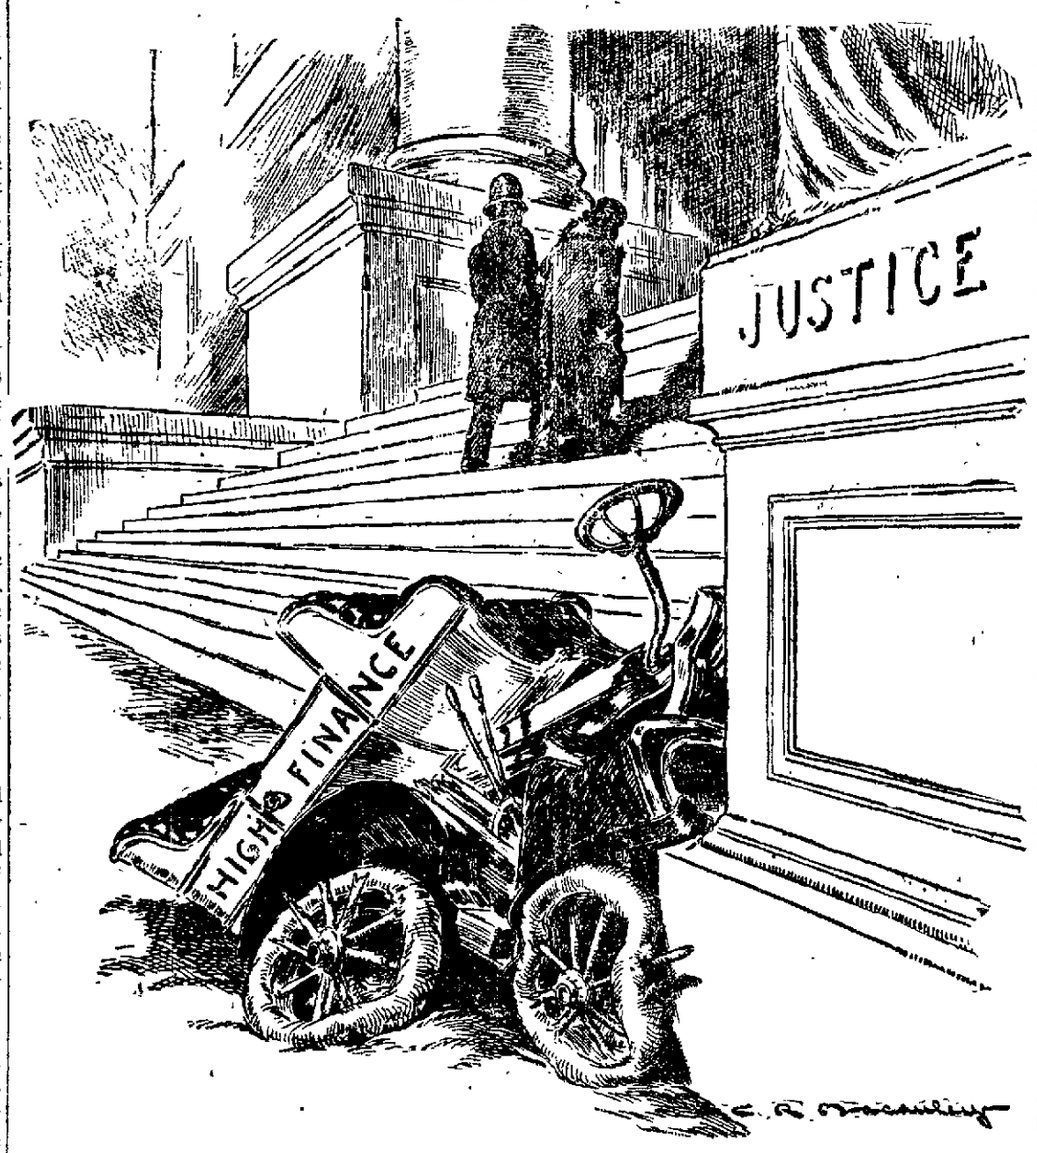
There will be a scrimmage and ancient bones will begin to rattle and dance. It's a dangerous subject that of ancestry and one which the average American dislikes to discuss excepting on the defensive, and then what a fight.

Out here in the Golden West there are as many kinds of ancestries as there are people, but the ruling base for measuring men is manly acts. There is no manliness in holding up the untoward acts of one's ancestors. We cannot help their being our ancestors. And they, perhaps, are not responsible for their successors. So what's the use.

The women of Oakland are crisis bent on their movement for suffrage. The newest plan adopted at a meeting the other night is the advocacy of a new clause in the city charter providing municipal suffrage for women. It is to be demanded along the line of justifying the purpose of the Public Health Club, which is a vigorous campaign for better sanitary conditions in Oakland. A committee from the club primed with suggestions and advice will meet with those who will make up the general conference of civic bodies and clubs the coming week at the City Hall.

Col. Watterson, the veteran, describes the politics of President Roosevelt's latest special message as "a cross 'twixt Felix Adler and Caesar's commentaries with a dash of Tom Lawson." A cocktail which certainly is not inviting to a Kentuckian who wants his straight—so we can't blame the Colonel.

THE PENALTY.



—NEW YORK WORLD

Checked From Barbarism.

The decision of the New York Board of Education, after being checked by the Board of Aldermen not to re-enact the honorable and ancient code of punishment by the rod, has saved that body from falling into a species of barbarism.

The refinements would be impossible of attainment and without them it would merely mean the using of physical force to unresisting, or, at the best, to squirming juvenile matter.

There was a time when a scholar who had offended was sent outside to select and cut the switch which was to teach him rules and regulations. It recalls boyhood days and that's about all there is to the system—a remembrance. Those days are past and the pupil philosophers bred in these days would be illy-fitted for the selection of their "switch" and forget the padding of their breeches with shingles as a precaution.

Those times have passed and there is no excuse for a return to the crudities.

Taking Himself Seriously.

Bryan has descended from his throne of lordliness in politics to the ordinary tone of a wailer against corruption in selecting delegates. He warns his faithful to watch carefully lest the "predatory interests" buy up delegates to his convention. It is assuming in his way beyond his usual allowance that "the interests representing the trusts and the railroads," as he couches it, are seeking to defeat his nomination. No one beyond Bryan has begun to worry over that phase of the question as yet.

It keeps him talking, it keeps him to the front and in the limelight, and helps advertise the lecture tours. Bryan is again taking himself seriously.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Objects to Any Loosening of the Exclusion Act.

Editor TRIBUNE: If the sentiments that were expressed by some of the speakers at the Chinese banquet in Oakland on Saturday evening are to be accepted as the popular sentiment of the people of this coast, then God help this country and our Christian civilization. If, in the language of one of the speakers, there is to be "no Occidental and no Oriental," then the inference is that the Orientals have all the rights here in the Occident that white men claim, and that our exclusion laws are wrong and vicious, and should be repealed.

Is it possible that any man or set of men, are so blind as not to be able to see that our exclusion law is the only safeguard, and that if it should be repealed and the flood gates open, the hungry hordes of pagan Asia would pour in upon us in an ever-increasing resistless tide until we were overwhelmed and our civilization utterly overthrown and swept from the earth.

No, no! We want no modification of the exclusion laws, or if any change, let them be so amended as to apply to all yellow and brown, pagan and Mahomedan peoples.

International trade, however desirable, must not be acquired at the expense of American manhood. Patriotism, the heaven born love of home and country, must not be sacrificed to base commercialism.

JOHN WANAMAKER'S ELDEST SON IS DEAD

Life Closes Career of North American's Owner After Long Suffering.

LIVERPOOL, Mar. 2.—Thomas B. Wanamaker of Philadelphia, son of former Postmaster-general John Wanamaker, died suddenly at the Hotel Liverpool here today. Mr. Wanamaker arrived here on Thursday from Egypt, where he had been traveling with his mother in search of health.

Long Sufferer From Gout.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Mar. 2.—Thomas B. Wanamaker had long been a sufferer from rheumatic gout, complicated with other ailments and about January1 sailed for Egypt. On February 1, public announcement was made that he had retired from the firm of John Wanamaker.

While it was known that he was quite ill, it was not believed that the condition was dangerous until yesterday, when the family received a cablegram stating that he was dying. His mother, his sister, Mrs Barclay W. Warburton, and his niece, Mrs. Fernanda Wanamaker, the daughter of his brother, Rodman Wanamaker, were with him when he died.

Deceased's Career.

Thomas B. Wanamaker was born in this city and was in his 48th year. He graduated from Princeton and soon afterward became a member of the firm of John Wanamaker and was its executive head in the absence of his father. He was interested in many enterprises and was the proprietor of the Philadelphia North American, having purchased that newspaper from Clayton McMichael in 1899.

Mr. Wanamaker leaves a widow and two young sons. Mrs. Wanamaker did not go abroad with her husband, because one of their sons had been operated upon for appendicitis and it was deemed inadvisable to take the boy across the ocean at that time.

SICK NEBRASKAN FATHER ASKS FOR MERCY FOR SON

Young Man Has, However, a Bad Record as Forger.

"Be merciful to him, he is friendless," the aged father of Harry Westcott wrote to Judge Ogden from his death bed at Nebraska, as a part of a plea for clemency for Westcott, who had pleaded guilty of forgery.

Probation Officer Ruess produced other letters relating to Westcott. One was from a Nebraska sheriff who said he had known the defendant all his life, and knew him to be thoroughly bad. Westcott is a college graduate. At college he learned to drink and gamble and associate with bad companions. He married and "broke his wife's heart," the letter from the sheriff said. She died and he married again.

According to the police he forged about sixty small checks in Oakland and passed them. Judge Ogden gave him a sentence of three years and a half in San Quentin.

CHICAGO, March 2.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Memphis, Tenn., says: "Suffering with a severe cold and what he termed a "busting" headache, W. J. Bryan announced here last night that he would make a bee line for his home in Lincoln, Neb., cancelling dates in St. Louis on Monday.

RAPS THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S METHODS

Judge Dunne Gives a Desperate Robber Light Sentence; Detective Waxes Wroth.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 2.—The District Attorney's office came in for a strong rapping at the hands of the detective department this morning, when it was learned that through the alleged lax methods of the prosecution, J. T. Smith, the desperate robber, was sentenced to only ten years in San Quentin by Judge Dunne, because the prosecution had failed to prove two prior convictions against him, all the evidence of which has been and is still in the hands of Detective Sergeant Edward Gibson, chief of the identification bureau.

Smith was the robber who, on November 29 of last year, held up and robbed Philip Mitchener, clerk in the hotel at Sansome and Washington streets, and a half hour later held up the saloon of John S. Peterson at 10 East street, at the point of a revolver, relieving the proprietor and a number of customers of their money.

After holding up the second place, and while attempting to escape from custody, Smith was shot by Policeman Davey while he himself had his weapon leveled at the police officer, with his finger on the trigger.

Four robbers, not nearly so desperate as Smith, with prior convictions against them, were given fifty years apiece in Judge Cook's court some weeks ago.

When Detective Sergeant Ed Gibson was told of Smith's sentence this morning he was greatly surprised and said: "I was never called upon to prove the former conviction, and it seems to me that laxity on the part of the District Attorney's office is responsible for the short sentence."

WU TING FANG PAYS VISIT TO UNIVERSITY

Professor John Fryer Conducts Visitor About Campus.

BERKELEY March 2.—His Excellency, Wu Ting Fang, the new Chinese minister arrived in Berkeley at 10 o'clock and spent the greater portion of the day looking over the university. Professor John Fryer of the Oriental languages department met the minister and the three attaches who accompanied him and took them to California Hall in automobiles.

The Oriental diplomat was specially interested in the methods of teaching employed in the various class rooms of the university. After lunch at the Faculty Club the party was driven about the campus.

Especial interest attaches to the visit as in the ambassador's party in San Francisco are 35 students, a number of whom are to be placed in the State University at the special request of the Chinese government.

TO MAKE TEST CASE OF STATE'S GAMBLING LAW

Many Sporting Men Attend Trial of Merchants' Club.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2. — A case arranged to test the State law regarding gambling was begun in Judge Shortall's court today. On February 22, Washington Manning was arrested among others in a place conducted by Wolf Brothers, known as the Merchants' Club, and charged with violating a gambling ordinance.

His attorneys contend the place was run under a charter from the State which regulates clubs and the games played in them. Chief Biggy claims there was gambling going on. Great interest is being taken in the case and several well known sporting men were in the courtroom crowd.

RAILWAY CUTS ITS TELEGRAPH FORCE

GRAND FORKS, N. D., March 2.—The Great Northern Railway is making wholesale reductions in its telegraph force. Stations are being closed and the telegraph is being done away with as much as possible. Between Grand Forks and Devil's Lake the block system has been put out of commission. The cut in the pay list will make up for all the extra men who will be employed as a result of the nine hour law.

BANK COMMISSIONERS MEET; TAKE NO ACTION

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2. — The legislative committee of bank commissioners held a meeting this morning in the rooms of the harbor board at the ferry building. The principal matter of discussion was as to what legislative action was needed in connection with the general banking commission. No definite action was taken.

The appointment of William S. Vawter, president of the Santa Monica bank, to the office of bank commissioner, was today made officially known to the other members of the board.

HILDESLEY IS NOT MISSING

He Denies, Moreover, That He Is at Outs With His Wife.

In one of the morning papers it was reported that Charles Hildesley, a resident of this city, who had been slated to address the Oakland Polytechnic High school Friday night was missing. The report was based on the non-appearance of Mr. Hildesley at the meeting. However, the unscrupulous gossip intimated that his absence was due to marital infelicity.

Mr. Hildesley assured THE TRIBUNE by appearing in person at the editorial rooms this afternoon. That he is not missing, and the charge that he is at outs with his wife he indignantly denies. His failure to keep his engagement with the Polytechnic High school was due merely to the fact that he had been unable to return in time from San Jose where he was detined by an important business engagement.

TINY BABE IS LEFT TO DIE ON STREET

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—The body of a baby girl, apparently about three days old, was discovered wrapped in a pillow slip on the sidewalk at Seventeenth and San Bruno last night. The autopsy performed this morning showed that the babe died of exposure, and as it had been wrapped on the outside in brown paper and the child's head was bruised, it is thought that the parent either threw the package from a passing car or dropped it on the sidewalk.

CROWDED CALENDAR PUTS OFF WILKINS TRIAL

Owing to the crowded condition of the criminal calendar of the Superior Court, the trial of Mark A. Wilkins for the murder of Vernie Carmin, who lived with him in Elmhurst as his wife, was continued today until March 23. The trial was to have begun today before Judge Ogden.

Wilkins is accused of murdering the woman and burying her body in a shed behind his house. His defense will be that she committed suicide in order to avoid disgrace as she was about to become a mother.

A UNIQUE LITTLE JAPANESE LUNCHEON

Some clever ideas carried out in a Japanese luncheon table recently were so pretty and unique that they merit publication for the benefit of other hostesses.

In the center of the table, on the white table cloth, was a centerpiece of red silk, edged with lace. On this stood a small candelabrum, having tiny lanterns for shades. All around the centerpiece were little flags mounted on pins. At each place a china figure of a Japanese man or woman stood holding a basket in which there were nuts and bonbons. Grape fruit was served for the first course and stuck into each piece of fruit was a small paper parasol open.

BRAVE NUN GIVES BATTLE TO BURGLAR

GREENWICH, March 2. — Courageous nuns in St. Mary's parochial school brought about the arrest of Michael Donohue, a burglar, in the night. He had hidden himself in the school building, and one of the nuns found a packet of tools when making her rounds at 16 o'clock. She telephoned to the police, and Sheriff Rich and several deputies hurried to the school.

Donohue tried to get out of the basement door, but a nun threw herself in front of him and ordered him to stand still. He tried to brush past her, and she seized him and shouted for the sheriff.

In spite of his struggles the burglar was unable to escape from the nun, who handed him over to the officers. On him were found several pocketbooks and a large amount of change, the loot of several burglaries, it is thought.

Girls in Denmark never experience the pleasure of receiving a diamond engagement ring. They are presented with a plain gold band, which is worn on the third finger of the left hand. On the wedding day the bride-groom changes the ring to the right third finger, which is the marriage finger in that country.

One Handful of Pa-in-Law's Whiskers Cost Him $5

NEW YORK, March 2.—Before Magistrate Kernochan in the Essex Market Court yesterday Simon Kravitz charged his son-in-law with pulling out a handful of his whiskers. Kravitz said he was sixty-eight years old, and with the tears streaming from his eyes, he added:

"Judge, the beard was the pride of my old age. I had not shaved for half a century. Among the old men of the East Side I always felt a special dignity, because my beard was longer, finer and of a more silvery color than those of my peers. And now behold my disgrace."

Thereupon the aged man laid one hand upon his right cheek, which appeared all the more swollen because of an enormous bandage, and in his other hand he brandished before the astonished Magistrate a veritable broom of long, silken hair, which he said his son-in-law had torn out by the roots.

"A man can lose his money and get it back again," sobbed the old man, "but at my age he can never get his whiskers back. My beard is ruined. I will be a laughing stock among the elders who before held me in such respect. I will either have to trim my whiskers to a point to make them symmetrical, and thus look like the old man of the sea; or I will have to shave, and thus alter my face absolutely."

"My father-in-law is worse than a mother-in-law," answered Benjamin Wilsooker, a thirty-eight-year old pocketbook maker. "My wife, her father and myself all live at 37 Orchard street. The old man boasts to the neighbors that he does all the work, that he cooks the meals, washes the dishes, sweeps and sews.

"And what made me especially angry, he says that I am lazy. He is always butting in with his advice, and not content to take things easy like an old man should."

The son-in-law then said that he was trying to cook a meal for himself after his fatherin-law had gone to ben; and that the old man got out of bed and tried to help. By so doing, Wilsooker said, his father-in-law had set fire to about everything in the kitchen. After stamping out the flames, Wisooker admitted that in the quarrel which followed, he had taken hold of the old man's beard.

After Pauline, the wife, had testified that her husband had a cruel disposition, Magistrate Kernochan said to Wisooker:

"I regret, young man, that I can only punish you for disorderly conduct. You are fined $5 this time; but take care that you never come before me again on such a charge.

Boudoir HINTS For Women

There is a new cure for excessive thinness for which many women are going to an obscure little town in Germany. It seems to be a nerve cure as well as a chocolate cure, for the people taking the cure are out of doors most of the time enjoying the scenery and exercising a little. Then the patients eat chocolate—lots of it—and all the time.

The secret of the success of the treatment seems to be in the fact that the people become stout in the right places. The arms become plump and round and the neck and bust fill out gracefully. The best part of it all is that the cure can be taken at home just as well and it is strange that people will travel so far out of their way to get such a simple treatment. The treatment consists simply of eating chocolate all the time and drinking the beverage in large quantities.

One of the most convenient things to have in every medicine chest is a jar of soft castile soap. To make this scrape a cake of pure soft soap and add it to about a pint and a half of water. Pour into a saucepan and stand it over a brisk heat, but not one that will make it boil. When the soap is all dissolved, pour it into a wide mouthed jar. When the mixture cools, it will be a jelly. This jelly is excellent to have to rub on the hands when washing them. It is also an excellent shampoo and may be used on the hair with good results. The head and scalp should be rinsed carefully and thoroughly after washing them with this solution.

She attributes to good cooking many of the best achievements in life and says it is the highest art any woman can acquire and that to be a superior cook a woman should make a never-ceasing study of the old-time recipes.

4 WIVES LOOKING FOR GAY DECEIVER

There Will be Blood on the Moon When They Catch Julius Marshall.

CHICAGO, March 2.—Two women, both claiming to be the wife of the same man, both charging him with desertion, and both having letters purporting to prove that he was the husband of two other women, were introduced to each other for the first time in Police Inspector Lavin's office at the Maxwell street police station.

Mrs. Anna Reingold, 550 South Halsted street, wife No. 4, reported to Capt. Mahoney that her husband Julius Marshall, whom she had married five weeks ago, had deserted her a week later after securing $200 from her.

Mrs. Sarah Dossin, wife No. 3, of St. Louis, who is said to have married Marshall under the name of Benjamin Dossin, followed her husband to Chicago, and asked Inspector Lavin to find him. Both women had photographs of the missing man.

Sergeant Frank Benardy of the inspector's office was the person to discover that Marshall and Dossin were the same. The pictures were identical.

Wives Introduced.

"Ladies," he said, "let me introduce wife No. 3 to wife No. 4."

"Why, you've got my husband's picture," cried Miss Reingold.

"I have not," replied Mrs. Dossin. "That is the photograph of my husband and you've got his picture in your hand."

"But this is my husband," answered Miss Reingold. "I married him five weeks ago."

"I married him three years ago," replied Mrs. Dossin.

"Are you Mrs. Julius Brownstone of Montreal, Canada?" she continued. "I've got letters to prove that my husband married her before he married me."

"No, I'm not," replied Mrs. Dossin. "I'm from St. Louis, Mo. I guess there must have been four of us."

"How much did he get from you?" asked the St. Louis wife.

"About $200," said the Chicago wife.

"I beat you," said Mrs. Dossin. "He got $5000 from me."

Mrs. Dossin and Miss Reingold then joined hands and promised each other that they would leave no stone unturned to bring Marshall to justice.

"Let's write to the Montreal wife and the New York wife and get them to help us," said Mrs. Dossin.

Our Rascal Husband.

The women sat down at Inspector Lavin's desk and wrote wife No. 1 and No. 2

Mrs. Dossin returned to St. Louis, but before she left the station she handed Captain Mahoney the following letter to be given to her successor in the affections of her husband:

Dear Miss Reingold: By the time you receive this letter I hope our rascal husband will be in jail, where he belongs. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for making the feet so hopeful. God bless you for helping me. I never knew such a happy moment in my life as when I learned that he could be punished for his sins. As soon as they arrest him let me know right away and I will come back to Chicago. O, how sweet revenge is on the man who ruined my life forever. Dear Miss Reingold, if he is in Chicago let me know, for I heard that he had gone to Cleveland. Vengeance is to be ours. Your true friend, MRS. S. DOSSIN.

1024 South Ninth street, St. Louis, Mo.

"I am cast off by my parents," said Miss Reingold, "because I married Marshall against their wishes. I'll never rest a minute until I see him behind the penitentiary bars."

"Charges of wife abandonment are filed in the municipal court against Marshall," said Inspector Lavin. "As soon as we catch him the additional charges of bigamy will be placed against him. Marshall posed in Chicago as a wealthy real estate mar.

"Affinity" Ate Her Heart Out---But DREAMS SOON DISSOLVED And She Returned to Forgiving Hubby

NEW YORK, March 2.—Declaring that her only aim in life now is to earn money enough that herself and her husband and their daughter Bertha may leave Newburg and go to some place and start life anew, Mrs. Wallace Miller sat in the front room of a flat almost bare of furniture.

Four months ago Mrs. Miller had a comfortable and happy home in Newburg. Then she confessed to her husband that her love for Charles Smith, a former sweetheart, had been eating her heart out. Smith was in Salt Lake City. The husband sold, the furniture of the house, gave the money to her and put her on a railroad train. With his daughter he went to live in a boarding-house.

A week ago the wife came home. She had written that she was coming. A few weeks with the man she thought she loved had shown to her that the man she really loved was the man whose dinners she had packed in a tin pail for many years; who had come home on Saturday nights and given his money to her and planned how they should spend it to make things brighter in the home.

He wasn't her ideal then. The ideal was the man she had thought was dead, the sweetheart of her youth, who turned up after her marriage. But the ideal was like brass that failed to ring true when the real test of love was applied.

"The happiest moment of my life," said the woman, "was when I saw my husband coming down to the station to meet me. I had written from Salt Lake that I wanted to come back. I had written that I had no money, but that I was going out as a servant to earn the money to come back, and prayed that my husband would take me again.

"He wrote that if I worked and earned the money and came back he would receive me. The news was too good to be true. I worked hard and with a heart lighter in the feeling that every dollar I made as a servant was toward my fare home. Finally I started. I telegraphed from Chicago, but he did not get the message.

"When I landed at the station he was not there and my heart fell. I wondered if he had decided against me after all. I was mean enough to think that perhaps he had brought me East to spurn me, and I reasoned that if he did that it would be no more than I deserved. I had forfeited every tie that a woman could ask for. Yet, when I thought it over, I did not believe my husband, knowing the shame I felt, could heap the new humiliation upon me.

"I telephoned to him and he answered me over the phone, saying he would come for me. No one but a woman who had been through what I have will ever know the spirit that filled my being. There is no single minute in all my life that ever gave me such pleasure save the actual sight of him as I saw him at the brow of the hill coming down to meet me. I ran halfway up to meet him. I knew then that the prayers that had been in my heart for months and upon my lips when I cried myself to sleep at night had been answered. I knew that in the great universe there was a God who had made a man with forgiveness in his heart.

"The first thing my husband did was to rent this place," she continued, pointing to her surroundings. "It has no furniture. This matting, this table, these cots and chairs are all. But to me it is a palace, and I would not change it for a kingdom without him.

"It is going to be a hard struggle to get back what we had But I am going to work at anything—at washing, at housework, as a servant—and do my share to get together enough to take us from here where we can begin life anew, where the shadow and sorrow of my life cannot be cast over the existence of my little daughter."

On the floor, doing a geography lesson, was the little daughter Bertha, eleven years old. The child does not understand it all. She knows only that her mother is home. The other children in school have asked her about her mother, and she has told them that everybody is happy at home because mamma is home again.

Mrs. Miller is a slight woman, about thirty, with dark hair, regular features and blue eyes. She is good looking. As she talked her husband sat by.

"I don't think ours is an exceptional case," he said. "There are many like it, but, unfortunately, crime became public property. Many of my friends, in fact, all who have spoken to me, have said I did right. But I didn't need them to tell me that. My own heart told it to me. We want to go away, and when we get the money we will go. We won't buy many more things here. We will live as we are in a way, and then go to where our troubles are not known."

Mrs. Miller was asked if any of her former friends had called upon her.

"No, I don't expect them to. I know. I understand, and yet am happy. They have not called, neither have I been out of the house."

Hand in hand the couple accompanied the visitor to the door. The woman was smiling and the man appeared resolute.

GETTING MARRIAGE LICENSES BEATS FOOTBALL RUSH

Until recently New Yorkers were required to get marriage licenses, but since the law has been passed compelling couples about to be wedded to secure licenses, the City Hall license bureau has been the daily scene of small-sized riots. Both parties to the contract are required to appear for the license and they are beset by agents who try to sell them baby carriages.

Likewise, agents of furniture houses, breakfast foods and other articles, try to get at them before they reach the clerk's desk.

When the unfortunate couple finally escapes with the marriage license, they look as if they had played a leading part in a football rush.

Tips for Tidy Housekeepers

Mary Dawson, aged 80, still works as a maid in the New England house, Boston, where she has served or sixty years. Her first employer was Paran Stevens.

The Oregon women have obtained the number of signatures necessary to secure the resubmission of the woman-suffrage amendment, and 1505 over. Mrs. A. S. Dunlway and other prominent women went to Salem on January 15 and filed 8961 certified signatures with the secretary of state.

The Williamsburg hospital now houses the first woman interne and ambulance surgeon in Brooklyn. Dr. Mary Merritt Crawford of Nyack, N. Y., a graduate of Cornell university, has entered upon her duties, which will be those of an interne for five and a half months, and of an ambulance surgeon from June to October.

At the funeral at Scarborough England, of Miss Mary Prudhoe, aged 80, all the horses, according to her express wish, wore huge black plumes over their heads and palls of the same color over their backs. To accustom the horses to their strange dress they were walked up and down the main thoroughfare several times prior to the funeral.

Mrs. Ellen O. Applebee, who is thought to be the last survivor of the assemblage that witnessed the inauguration of President John Quincy Adams, in Washington, March 4, 1825, has just died at Parker's Station, Goffstown, N. H., aged 98 years and 10 months. Her trip from her home among the Vermont hills to Washington to witness the inauguration was made by stage coach and carriage.

Some government jobs are "snaps" and particularly those held by men in Uncle Sam's employ. The women, however, generally have to work hard for every cent they receive and in some instances their pay is outside the standard on which salaries are paid. At any rate that is the case in regard to Miss Margaret V. Kelly of the treasury department, who is said to be the highest paid woman employe in the mint bureau and owing to the excellence of her work was recently raised from $1600 to $2000 a year.

At the Theaters

FINE BILL AT THE ORPHEUM

Grace George at the Macdonough —New Bills at Ye Liberty and Idora.

Weeks will probably elapse before the Orpheum presents so good a bill as is on the boards at the Twelfth street theater this week The crowds found the show yesterday to be one of the liveliest of the season fairly crackling with good things There was not a dull moment from the rise of the curtain to the last motion picture that was shown Music dancing singing novelties from Europe pantomime spectacles clever work by athletes some trained ponies and dogs from abroad and some American comedy made a melange that was highly spiced and which delighted the crowd to the top of its bent yesterday

MACDONOUGH

Grace George Opens Her Engagement Tonight.

The stage really sets the style in gowns and millinery declares Grace George who should be well qualified to speak for no woman in her profession has made a more lavish display of beautiful attire

"That women of the stage especially those who have leading positions make popular the prevailing fashion is a certainty says Miss George The leading actress who goes to a fashionable modiste is looked upon with great favor because there is the very greatest value in having her gowns exhibited nightly to an audience largely composed of women The actress should never slavishly follow the mode but seek to improve upon the prevailing taste within the limitations of modesty and good judgment

Miss George commences a weeks engagement including a Saturday matinee, at the Macdonough theater tonight presenting the new French comedy "Divorcons

WOMAN CRUELLY BEATEN; ACCUSE HUSBAND OF CRIME

Threaten to Tar and Feather Man Held in Jail on the Charge of Wife-Beating.

Antone Andrews, a carpenter, was arrested in San Leandro yesterday and taken to the county jail on a charge of wife-beating.

According to Marshal Gisenhofer who escorted the prisoner to this city, Andrews and his wife attended a dance last Saturday night and by 4 o clock Sunday morning the man had imbibed intoxicants so freely that when his wife tried to persuade him to go home he refused His wife went in search of an officer, finally returning with Constable Quadros, who got Andrews started for home

Barely had the officer left, however, it is charged when Andrews turned on his wife struck her repeated blows in the face with his fists knocked her down and kicked her Andrews, so the policeman says proceeded to trample his wife when Quadros heard her screams and ran back to the scene

Knocked Andrews Down.

Quadros pulled Andrews to the ground as he was about to arrest him, but Mrs Andrews pleaded so hard with the officer that Quadros relented

As soon as Quadros left them for a second time Andrews again attacked his wife it is charged swung her around him in a circle by the hair He is further accused of biting his wife's ear so badly that it was nearly severed from her head and breaking her nose

Pursued by Crowd.

People in the vicinity, hearing Mrs Andrews screams, ran out and found her lying face downward in the road unconscious Andrews took to his heels and a large crowd gathered to search for him Quadros finally located Andrews behind a barn and upon the latter's refusal to halt Quadros shot at him five times none of the bullets taking effect Andrews escaped but after a five-hours hunt was captured by Constable Borgie

Mrs Andrews is said to be in a critical condition and is under the care of Dr Coleman in San Leandro The townspeople are aroused and threaten to tar and feather Andrews when he returns.

DR. BAKER'S SUNDAY TALKS

Discusses Some of the Apostles and Discourses on the Subject of Temperance.

At the First Presbyterian Church yesterday morning Rev E D Baker took for the subject of his communion sermon For better or for worse predicated on St Pauls reproof of the Corinthians in the eleventh chapter of his epistle to that church in which he reproved them for coming to the Lords supper to eat and to drink instead of coming to it in a worthy manner In his comments he said that at the first supper in the upper room Judas and Peter were present The character of Judas was passed upon as a leader He was a smart man an educated man a politician He had himself chosen as the principal officer of the little band—the treasurer but he was a traitor and betrayed his Lord for thirty pieces of silver Peter was a coward He said he would never forsake the Master but he deserted Him as soon as He was taken by the soldiers though he followed and when in the crowd he was detected as one of the followers of Jesus denied that he knew Him A strong and earnest application to intending communicants to examine themselves as St Paul had admonished the Corinthians

In the evening Dr Baker as a prelude to his sermon on the Race Track Evil which he termed a gigantic evil said he was glad that the movement had been started in Berkeley to remedy the evil

There were two remedies The remedy of public opinion He would call upon the men and women of the church and the city to stand against this evil In this stand the women can be of great assistance in helping to save our young men He was ashamed of Lakeside Hospital for having a Derby Day He had always been against it since coming here The hospital is a good one and ought to be supported but he did not believe in that way The other remedy was that of legislation

Best of Cardinal Virtues.

The evening sermon was the fourth in the series on the Seven Cardinal Virtues and the subject was 'Temperance This the doctor said was the best of the cardinal virtues of the incients the others being wisdom courage and justice The text was I Cor ix 2a And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown but we are incorruptible Temperance we call self-control but it has a wider cause than mere self control in the matter of drink It includes that of money power popularity food etc The whole career of our conduct should be controlled by moderation It is a narrow use of the word when we say temperance is only the curbing of the appetitie for drink A comparison of the Grecian conception of temperance in St Pauls day and of all the Latin races with today was made

Temperance Statistics

Dr Baker gave some statistics as to the spread of local option and prohibition One half of the countries is now free from the saloon and seven of the States viz Maine Kansas North Dakota Oklahoma Alabama Georgia and Mississippi are to be in a few months prohibition States He looked back to the time when a young man in his native State during a prohibition campaign in which he was engaged He had not hoped to see one-half of the United States free from the open saloon In the Southern States prohibition was a part of the race problem The removal of the liquor traffic was a matter of self-defense and social safety In Ohio nine-tenths of the State will be under local option when the Porter law takes effect

The city saloon is the great center that will be the last to go The Gibraltar is yet to come The speaker said he was in favor of the ordinance in this city for the $100 a year license He was surprised at the source from which it came and quoted the passage Can any good come out of Nazareth? It might have been proposed for an ulterior purpose and some one be expected to make some money out of it

PROSPECTS OF STATE BRIGHT

Crops in Fine Condition—Oil Find Near King City—Oakland's Fame Growing

The prospects for this years crops in California were never so bright as they are this year said Fred B Dillam this morning who has just returned from a two weeks tour of the State

I was particularly impressed with the optimistic spirit prevalent in what is called the dry country between Salinas and Paso Robles The farmers had no complaints on the grounds of rain and are thoroughly satisfied and their crops they say will be record breakers this year

The prospects everywhere seem to be unusually bright and I was greatly surprised because there have been so many other stories told about the matter

I find there is great excitement over the oil discovery in King City and they are endeavoring to build up that place It is encouraging to Oakland and Oakland people to note the standing this city has again that which it had a few years ago And it is also a pleasure to feel that many of the criticisms made are without basis and that the prospects for the coming year were never so bright in this city than they are at present

NELSON-BRITT TANGLE IN SOUTH TOMORROW

Fourth Meeting of Rival Lightweights Has Attracted Very Little Attention in San Francisco.

BY EDDIE SMITH.

Tomorrow night at Los Angeles, Jimmy Britt and Battling Nelson will meet in the ring for the fourth time with the score standing two wins for Britt and one for Nelson. The contest has not attracted the attention there that it was expected it would and the lack of interest would lead one to believe that patrons of the sport are sick and tired of hearing any thing of a Britt-Nelson contest.

The first of the Britt-Nelson contests took place in the Mechanics' Pavilion and was a twenty-round affair. Nelson was then being managed by Teddy Murphy. Britt was at that time a great drawing card and the promoters did not want him beaten if they could help it but the backers fixed things in such a fashion that Nelson had little chance to get any the best of the contest. To win that bout Nelson had to do more than have a shade.

After a time the warring factions of the fight promoters and managers let the whole plan out and now the story is publicly discussed by the boxing fans. The second meeting which took place at Colma was a fight to be remembered as long as those who witnessed it will live. Nolan had taken charge of Nelson's affairs at that time and whether or not he got Nelson what was coming to him no one seems to know,—in fact there never appeared to be any thing wrong with the contest.

Nolan raised a big howl, however, and when the contest come off he was successful in landing Eddie Graney as the referee. Graney of course was just the man that Nolan wanted, for Britt had said that he would never stand for Graney, he did just the same and in fairness to all it must be said that he was fairly and squarely beaten.

Gans Beat Nelson.

After that contest Joe Gans met and defeated Nelson and the beating that he received at that time caused many of the experts all over the country to predict that Nelson would never again be able to take the beatings as he did previous to that time.

Then come the third meeting between Britt and Nelson in San Francisco and those who saw the contest and who had seen Nelson in his previous starts here, could not help saying that Nelson was any thing but the same man, he had lost his ability to assimulate punishment as in the old days and h lacked the dash that made him famous.

Britt gave him a good lambasting and coming on top of the beating that Gans handed the Dane it was then said that Nelson had been done for. Britt took a round up in popularity but it was only as a bubble, for along come Mr. Joe Gans and the ultimate result bursted the bubble and put Britt on the shelf.

Now the men are meeting in a very unsatisfactory sort of a contest for this particular pair. Britt is the best boxer and looks to be all the class in the short distance going. Nelson was beaten only a short time ago by Boer Unholz and as it is the opinion of the sporting world in general, that Unholz is an accident, this has done nothing to boost his stock.

In the south the contest is taken real seriously, but in San Francisco the boxing fans look upon it with little or no care, in fact, many of them have set to joshing about it with such remarks as, "Who will win the D. and O. championship."

Ketchel Refuses Neil Contest.

Manager Joe O'Connor, who is the guiding star of the Ketchel fighting machine, wired up from San Diego yesterday that he had not agreed to allow his man to meet Al Neil at Bakersfield on St. Patrick's Day.

Timothy McGrath made the statement that the men had been matched and when asked as to the stand O'Connor had taken, Tim said that he had acted for the club with the assurance from O'Connor that he would allow Ketchel to fight any one that could be secured at the southern city.

It is just as well that O'Connor is against the contest, for Neil would be no match for the husky young middle weight.

Fight Permits Unsigned.

The fight permits that were passed by the Supervisors a short time ago, allowing Luke Marish the April permit and Jack Gleason the May date have not as yet been signed by Mayor Taylor and as the other bills passed at that time have been signed and returned, it is taken for granted that the Mayor is making an investigation into the claim of the Ariel Rowing Club for a permit.

The members of the Ariel Club have said that they do not wish to enter into the field of fight promoters but that they do want at least one fight permit in order that they may get enough money to build a new boat club.

A strong fight was made before the Supervisors for a permit and as the permits passed to the other clubs just received enough votes to carry it is expected that the veto of the Mayor would stand if he desired to affix it to the permits.

The Ariel Club in making an attempt to break into the boxing game at this time for the purpose of getting enough money to build a boat club are foolish, for the attendance at the contests lately offered the public, would lead one to believe that there is not a gold mine in promoting boxing contests at present in San Francisco.

NEW ANECDOTES ABOUT UMPIRE TUBBY TIM HURST

Dusty Rhodes isn't any slouch when it comes to winning an argument on the ball field, but he generally passes up Hurst. One day last summer Dusty was working a game at League Park against New York, and Elberfield was on first. A fly ball was hit to center and it looked as if it would go safe. Elberfield had nearly reached third when the fly was caught. He knew if he went back and touched second Birmingham's throw would surely beat him. Elberfield saw that Hurst had his back turned and he cut through the diamond, missing second base by a wide margin, and got away with it. Of course a big kick was raised, and Dusty chimed in with something like this:

"According to the rules the baserunner has to touch all the bases after catching a fly ball, don't he, Tim?"

"That used to be the rule," replied ever-ready Hurst, "but I had it changed this morning."

Dusty subsided.

One day last summer a letter was sent to the umpires in the American League asking for suggestions to shorten the games. Tim filed his little document, but couldn't refrain from adding a postscript saying:

"If you really desire to shorten the games, try seven innings."

* * *

Kid Elberfeld and Tim have had a number of run-ins, but the Kid always delights in telling this one:

"Tim had called me out at the plate on a close play, and as it was the deciding run, the game being a tie, I put up a big kick, and in my anger I probably called Tim a few pet names. Tim kept his temper far better than usual, and surprised me, as I had expected a few compliments in return.

"'Mr. Elberfeld,' says Tim, in his high tenor, 'the case is adjourned for today. You may leave the field. I shall present your very forcible argument to Ban Johnson and allow him to render a decision.'"

Tim used the wires that evening, and the next day the Kid received a message entitling him to a rest for three days.

When Tim walked out in front of the New York bench the next day all the team was sitting on the bench except the kid.

"It looks as if Mr. Johnson had returned a verdict unfavorable to Mr. Elberfeld," said Tim, as he carefully adjusted his cap and failed to crack a smile.

Everybody on the bench burst out into a guffaw except Griffith. He was holding a conversation with himself.

When Jake Stahl was manager of the Washington team Hurst umpired a long series at Washington, and Stahl's team had won three games. Tim accompanied Washington to Cleveland for a single game and then went to Detroit.

When Stahl left the field after the game he said, in a joke, to Tim:

"Well, I'm happy at last; I've finally lost you."

O'Loughlin worked the first game at Detroit, and then shift was made and Tim was sent to Detroit and O'Loughlin to St. Louis. When Tim received word to change, he sent Stahl a message, collect, which read:

"Sorry you forgot to leave me a ticket or I would have been on last night's boat." Jake just about fainted when he got it.

Tim has been taking on weight this winter and weighs 212 pounds, according to latest reports. He is practising on roller skates in order to make it easier to get around during the summer.

ASSOCIATION SENDS OUT PECULIAR SPECIAL NOTICE

NEW YORK, March 2.—The Westchester Racing Association, which conducts racing at Belmont Park, will close twenty-six stake events tomorrow. A special notice has been sent out to the effect that the association reserves the right to hold the races on some course outside New York State in case the Legislature passes "legislation inimical to racing." Of the events to be closed, five are for the regularly scheduled fall meeting, the others for the spring meeting. This is the first racing association to put this proviso in its call for entries in the stake events.

The chief events of the spring meeting are the Metropolitan and Cosmopolitan handicaps.

Collegians Win 13-Inning Game

After a thirteen inning game, the Collegians, the second team of St. Mary's College, defeated the Columbia Park Boys' nine by a score of 6 to 5 at St. Mary's College yesterday. Schimpff pitched for the Columbia Park boys, and put up a good game. His support was ragged at critical moments. Wilcox and Wells worked nicely for the Collegians.

Johnson Makes His Final Concession

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—Unless the National Sporting Club of London makes an offer for a fight between Jack Johnson and Tommy Burns, Sam Fitzpatrick, manager of the negro scrapper, will not allow his man to fight.

Fitzpatrick says that he stands ready to accept any terms that the National Club may submit, but he declares that he does not take any stock in the other English syndicate.

THISTLES PLAY GOOD FOOTBALL AND WIN GAME FROM SAN FRANCISCO MEN

The Thistles got together yesterday and, by playing nice combination football, won from the San Francisco team at Freeman's Park by a score of 3 to 2. This was the third meeting of these teams to decide which was to have the honor of playing the league champions in the cup competition. The two previous games the teams played resulted in ties.

The Thistles should consider themselves lucky as a result of their win yesterday. The San Francisco team played the better football but luck was against them. In the second half the San Francisco eleven netted the ball six times, but only two of the goals were allowed to score.

The Thistles were the first to assume an aggressive attitude, but weakness in front of goal kept them from registering anything tangible, Scott being the only forward capable of giving the goalkeeper any trouble. At the other end Kay handled and a penalty was awarded the San Franciscos, but McRitchie saved magnificently from Shone, and then Shone was penalized near his own goal for tripping.

Gore made no mistake with the kick, and the Thistles were one up. Shortly after Fitchie, in clearing, kicked the ball against one of his opponents and had the mortification of seeing it sail harmlessly through his own goal.

It was a lucky point, however, as the Thistles should have been pulled up for offside before the ball reached Fitchie. This was all the scoring before the interval when the Thistles held a two-goal lead.

On resuming the Scotsmen got busy in lightning fashion, and Scott further increased the score. Then came the turn of the locals, and they kept up a bombardment of the Thistles' goal until the finish.

Four times the ball was netted before a goal was allowed, but finally Spencer scored legitimately.

The same player shortly after added a second, but though the San Francisco boys held their opponents at bay and kept up the aggressive work they could not equalize the scores.

Scott played brilliantly for the Thistles, and was the only redeeming man on the Scotsmen's attacking line.

Smith, Kay and Gore were the pick of the defense, and McRitchie saved a host of shots between the posts. Mizen, Fitchie and Shone were the best of the locals.

Crack Cueists Will Complete

CHICAGO, March 2.—W. Hoppe, challenger for the 18.1 and 18.2 balk line titles, and Calvin Demarest, national amateur billiard champion, will tonight begin an 1800 point handicap match game here. The contest is attracting much attention in this city.

Demarest will play the 14.2 style employed in the amateur championship tournaments against Hoppe's 18.1, the latter having arranged the match as a preparatory one to an engagement with Schaefer, the champion at the harder style of balk line game.

Hal Chase Off For New York

Hal Chase, the king of first baseman, together with his wife left Oakland this morning for New York City where he will join the New York Highlanders. This puts at rest all rumore that he would not be with the New York Americans this season. Chase goes direct to New York from which point he will leave for Atlanta, Ga., where the team is training.

Chase resigned yesterday as coach of the St. Mary's College team. Last year the St. Mary's team tendered to him a banquet, but he left so hurriedly this time that it was out of the question for the college boys to give him a big send off.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—The summer shooting season opened at Shell Mound Park yesterday and a large number of rifle experts were on hand to take part in the various competitions promoted by the management and the shooting clubs. The weather was favorable all day and some good scores were made. R. J. Fraser made a score of 416 out of a possible 500, the best score ever made by a member of the Shell Mound Rifle and Pistol Club. In the Maccebee rifles' shoot H. Macalpine won the Schofield medal and C. Munson won the Hall medal.

KENNEL MEN WILL ATTEMPT TO DEVELOP IDEAL HUNTER

Oakland Kennel Club Show Will Try and Get the Proper Medium for Field Companion.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—There exists a great difference of opinion between the fanciers of field trial and bench show dogs as to which is really the better suited to be the champion of the man who goes afield for game.

On the one hand the field trial fancier has said that the bench show dog is so faulty in conformation that he cannot do a good day's work, and that for generations his ancestors have not been used in hunting, and that he lacks that animation, that intense birdiness which is present in the hunting dog whose ancestors have constantly been used in hunting and which has inherited a good nose.

On the other hand, the bench show fancier has claimed that the conformation of the bench show dog is such that he can stand longer hours of travel; that he is a more biddable dog; that, not being so closely mined he is not so nervous, not so erratic and, though he may not travel so fast, that he hunts better, has a better nose, and, take him all in all, is a more intelligent animal than the average field trial dog.

The Setter and Pointer Club is composed of members who believe that both are partly right and partly wrong. They acknowledge many of the statements of field trial men. Yet believe that the correct bench winner has much to recommend him. They know that, given proper training, the bench class of dogs have stamina and bird sense, that they make splendid hunting companions and then, too, they possess a beauty which never has been approached by any field trial dog.

It was with the idea of bringing these two factions together that this club was formed. The club proposes to educate its members as to the correct type and conformation. Stereopticon pictures of the leading bench shows and field winners will be studied from a thoroughly scientific point of view.

Dogs of both strains will be trained in the hands of thoroughly competent trainers, and their reports as to the hunting ability of the dogs will be submitted to the club. By these and other means of study it is hoped that much of the prejudice which has been expressed by both sides of the question may be abolished. The Pacific Coast Setter and Pointer Club realized that there was a great field for work and that it must have assistance before much could be accomplished.

The club approached the Oakland Kennel Club, and after thoroughly explaining its aims and objects, it requested that the Oakland Kennel Club select as judges of its annual bench show some one who is a recognized authority on quality, type and conformation. After giving the matter much thought the Oakland Kennel Club has selected as special judge for setters and pointers T. P. McConnell of Victoria, B. C.

Mr. McConnell, for more than twenty years, has been an enthusiastic hunting dog fancier. During that time he has been an enthusiastic hunter and has studied hunting dogs while actually in use and has been an importer, a breeder and an exhibitor of the best type of shooting dog.

He has owned and used dogs of pure field trial strain, dogs of pure bench show strain, and has made repeated outcrosses in breeding from both strains. He has bred both bench show and field trial winners and is reputed to be one of the best judges of type and conformation in America. He is a man who knows what a shooting dog should be and will carry with him no prejudice into the judging ring.

After Mr. McConnell was chosen to judge the Oakland Kennel Club's show, the Pacific Coast Setter and Pointer Club mailed to every fancier upon the coast a circular letter which hastily outlined its plans and requested that all dogs owned on the coast be entered at the Oakland Kennel Club's annual show.

At this show the club expects to establish for the education of the fancier the correct type and conformation of setters and pointers. The prize list is far more generous than that usually offered at dog shows. It is the desire of the Setter and Pointer Club to secure no less than thirty trophies to be competed for. This will provide a trophy for every class, from puppy to winners for English, Irish and Gordon setters and pointers.

The work outlined by these clubs is of vast importance to all persons owning and loving the shooting dog. Already entries have been promised from almost every community on the coast.

From Los Angeles J. Law Anderson will send an entry of pointers. Huron Rock's Sue Gladstone and several other dogs owned by Mr. Rock will come up from Santa Barbara. From Hollister Mrs. Murphy will enter six or eight setters, among which will be Lola Montez, and her latest Eastern importation.

John Goldbeck of Crockett has promised to make things interesting with a large string of English setters. He writes that his famous setter, Cairo Norma, is looking better than ever. Mrs. Allen of Oakland will enter several young dogs, among which are Fleet's Lady and Norma's Sargeant. Mr. Groves from Stockton, who is president of the club, will have entered several splendid Irish setters. Among them is Grove's Jerry, the dog which has yet to know the sting of defeat.

Fred Butler's good dog Tiverton, that splendid field and bench dog who has lowered the colors of so many good dogs, will again face the judge. Among the good ones from San Francisco will be Victor Huehn's Mallwyd Beau and Mark Manning's Derris M., ten months old puppies, so good that up to the present they have defeated everything shown against them. Mrs. Orton's Bob O and Flora O, two setters, that will bear watching, and two that are hard to beat, will make the "old timers" hustle to carry away the honors.

R. H. Elliot of Salt Lake will enter a string of twelve dogs, all good ones, and they will keep them guessing until the judge has finished handing out the ribbons.

From Seattle, Portland, Vancouver and Victoria will come bluebloded setters and pointers, many of whom have defeated the best in their home cities. Many are already champions; all come with hope in their hearts, all striving to win.

To the man who loves his dog there is a tightening of the heart-strings and a mist before the eyes when a good faithful companion fails to get in the ribbons, but some must go down in defeat and this is the crowd that will face T. P. McConnell at Oakland in April. Truly we do not envy him in his position!

Stanford Boys Hold Workout

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 2.—Stanford athletes worked out on a muddy track last Saturday. Maundrell ran two miles in 10:22 2-5, time which would have been good on a dry track and in warm weather. Horton put the shot 44 feet 5 inches. Reed annexed the 220-yard dash in 23 1-5.

Wyman ran a pretty race in the quarter, which he won in :54. Bradford outgamed McGregor in the stretch of the mile and won in 4:45. Owing to the inclement weather the pole vault, hammer throw, low hurdles and relay race were omitted. The meet was held for the purpose of selecting a team to meet the University of Southern California athletes on March 7. Because of the unfavorable conditions, however, announcement of the personnel of the team will not be made until later.

GIRL TRIES TO COMMIT SUICIDE

Deceit That She Practiced on Friends Preys on Her Mind.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—So remorseful and ashamed at the deception she had practiced on her friends of the Salvation Army was Dixie Blair, a nineteen-year-old girl, that she decided to end her life, and yesterday morning she turned on the gas in her room, hoping to be asphyxiated.

She was discovered in time and did not die, but her story was revealed by a letter that she wrote, intending that it should be read after her death.

Dixie Blair was a child actress, a circus tumbler, brought up amid sordid surroundings and without love. She was of a nature that craved love, and when, a year and a half ago, she met Mrs. R. H. Peterson of the Salvation Army, who took her to her home and loved her as her own daughter, she knew for the first time what happiness meant.

This happiness, this love, she wanted to cling to, to keep at any cost, and she practiced deception to keep it. Although nineteen, she had the looks and manners of a child of fifteen, and she passed herself off as a fifteen-year-old girl. She did this because she thought that Mrs. Peterson and the Salvation Army would not care for her as they did if they knew that she was a grown woman, capable of taking care of herself. For the same reason she concealed from them her engagement to Milton Denning, a telegraph operator, of Tucson, Arizona.

She confessed this deception in her farewell letter. It preyed on her mind so that she decided on suicide. She went to a room in the rear of the Salvation Army headquarters, at 1212 McAllister street, and turned on the gas. Nels French, a member of the Army, detected the odor and broke into the room. She was revived and taken to the home of Mrs. J. Jorgenson, at 1209 Ellis street, where she has lived since Mrs. Peterson went to Melrose to live a short time ago.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES

Serum for Scarlet Fever: New York—Hypodermic injections of a serum similar to that used in the treatment of diphtheria are being successfully employed in scarlet fever cases in this city, according to doctors in hospitals on the East side where the disease is unusually prevalent now.

Dr. Henry Robinson of the post graduate hospital said yesterday this treatment is being employed with gratifying results in both Germany and France.

Selling Old Cars: New York—With the probability that they will find their way eventually to some South American city the outfit of ninety odd cable cars that carried so many million passengers back and forth across the Brooklyn bridge, being recently replaced by through electric trains, are to be sold at auction by the department of bridges.

Milk Coming Down: Chicago — Indications of a general break in the price of milk appeared yesterday when one of the largest dealers announced a cut of one cent a quart. The reduction of the price to seven cents a quart brings it to the same figure that ruled before the general advance last fall.

Labor's New Demand: Chicago—An amendment to the Sherman anti-trust law exempting labor unions and agricultural associations from being held liable for damages as a result of strikes, boycotts, and the "unfair list" was demanded yesterday by the Chicago Federation of Labor.

SAN FRANCISCO NOTES

Smothered by Its Mother—Mrs. Samuel Ball of 2032 Hyde street, the mother of four-months-old twins, during her sleep early Sunday morning unconsciously rolled over one of them in bed and smothered him. The other twin was lying in a basket alongside the bed and thus escaped his brother's fate.

Fatal End of Debauch—John Clemis, a carpenter, aged about 50, died yesterday in his room at 9 Hard street, as the result of a debauch on the night previous.

Succumbs to Typhoid—Policeman William S. Dorsey, attached to the Harbor station, died Saturday night at St. Francis' Hospital of typhoid fever, from which he had been suffering for three weeks. He was a native of Santa Cruz, aged 36 years, and had been employed on the force since June 24, 1905. He was a widower, his wife having died a year ago.

Veteran Mariner Dead—John H. Cosgrove, for many years in the service of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and subsequently superintending engineer of Goodall, Perkins & Co., at Broadway wharf, died at his home, 301 Fair Oaks street, last Thursday and was buried from St. James' Church, in Holy Cross Cemetery, this morning. Deceased was 75 years old and leaves a widow.

Arm Amputated—J. Hengardt, owner of a French laundry at 3031 Twenty-second street, lost his right hand and forearm while adjusting some shirts in one of the machines, into which it was accidentally drawn. The arm snapped off at the elbow.

Policeman Badly Hurt—Policeman P. D. Daly of the Park station was seriously injured this morning by being thrown from his horse at Tenth avenue and J street while on his way to report off duty. His shoulder and his hip were dislocated.

Thrown from Elevator—R. C. Stence, who has been living at the Hotel Victoria at 1500 Kentucky street, was painfully injured at 7 o'clock this morning, when he was thrown from the elevator of the hotel while moving his trunk from the third floor to the hotel office. He was taken to the Protrero emergency hospital, where injuries to his head and back were dressed.

VIEWERS' REPORT OF COUNTY ROAD No. 4276.

In the matter of the petition of G. D. Claflin and others for a public road in Brooklyn township the order for a survey and oath of the following viewers was received: P. A. Haviland, County Surveyor; A. T. Newth and Charles F. Lee. Thereupon the following report of said viewers was received:

To the Honorable, the Board of Supervisors of Alameda County, California. Gentlemen: We, the viewers appointed by an order of your Honorable Body to view and survey a proposed road sixty feet wide in Brooklyn township, as petitioned for by G. D. Claflin et al., to run from the northerly line of Virginia street to the southerly line of Harrington avenue, report as follows, to wit:

That we are disinterested citizens of Alameda County and are not petitioners on said petition, and that we have been sworn to discharge our duties faithfully as said viewers.

That we have laid out and surveyed the proposed road over a route three feet easterly from the line as petitioned for, as said route would be equally practicable and would be cheaper and would fit the lines of existing subdivisions better.

That we have duly notified the owners or agents of said owners, over whose lands the proposed road passes, of the proposed route, insofar as we have been able to find such owners or agents, some of the owners, however, being non-residents and having no resident agents.

That in our opinion the proposed road will be of no public benefit, as there is a county road on each side of said proposed road, parallel to it and within 350 feet of said route.

That the expense attached to opening the proposed route would be very great.

We submit the following survey of the route and termini of said proposed road:

FIELD NOTES OF THE CENTER LINE OF PROPOSED COUNTY ROAD NUMBER 4276.

Beginning at a point on the northerly line of Virginia street, distant thereon 2.60 feet easterly from the common corner of lots Nos. 16 and 17, as said lots are delineated and so designated on that certain map entitled "Map of the Bromley Tract," etc., and filed in the office of the County Recorder of Alameda County, California, August 17th, 1891, and running thence north 47° 47' east parallel to the easterly line of Seminary avenue, 780 feet to a point on the southerly line of Harrington avenue, distant thereon 13.48 feet easterly from the common corner of lots Nos. 45 and 46, as said avenues and lots are delineated and so designated on that certain map entitled "Harrington Seminary Avenue Tract," and filed in the office of the County Recorder of Alameda County, California, December 17th, 1906. Length of road, 147-1000 miles. Width of road; sixty feet.

The names of the owners over whose lands the proposed road passes and the amount of land taken from each are as follows, to wit:

C. D. and D. L. Chaffey	.172 acres
S. S. Austin	.008 acres
Charles I. Dieves	.026 acres
Miranda and Sarah Kimball	.331 acres
George Miller	.229 acres
William G. Henshaw	.165 acres
The Misses Miller	.143 acres

All of the property owners over whose lands the proposed road passes, and whom the viewers were able to see, desire damages for land taken for the proposed opening as follows, to wit:

C. D and D. L. Chaffey could not be seen.

S. S. Austin asks $50.00 for land taken.

Charles I. Dieves could not be seen.

Miranda and Sarah Kimball ask $3,000 per acre for land taken.

George Miller asks $1,200.00 for land taken.

William G. Henshaw asks $600.00 for land taken.

The Misses Miller could not be seen.

We find the non-consenting land owners to be damaged in the following amounts:

C. D. and D. L. Chaffey, $1000.00; S. S. Austin, $50.00, Charles I. Dieves, $152.00; Miranda and Sarah Kimball, $993.00; George Miller, $1200.00; William G. Henshaw, $600.00; the Misses Miller, $1000.00.

We estimate the cost of opening the road and grading and putting in the necessary bridges at $1000.00.

We recommend that, inasmuch as the cost of opening the road is entirely incommensurate with the benefits to be derived by the public, the prayer of the petitioners be denied.

P. A. HAVILAND,

SCHOOL DISTRICTS FREE FROM BONDED DEBT.

George W. Frick, county superintendent of schools, stated to the board that there was no school property in either Highland School District or Ocean View School District at the time of their recent formation by order of the board, and for that reason, according to a legal opinion received from the District Attorney, part of which was read to the board, neither of said districts was liable or responsible for any part of the bonded indebtedness of the respective school districts from which said Highland and Ocean View districts were formed.

On motion of Supervisor Rowe, seconded by Supervisor Bridge, the statement of the County Superintendent of Schools was ordered entered on the minutes of the board by the following vote:

Ayes—Supervisors Bridge, Horner, Kelley, Rowe and Chairman Mitchell—5.

SUPERVISORIAL DISTRICT ASKED FOR BERKELEY.

Thomas, representing citizens of Berkeley, urged the necessity and feasibility of readjusting the supervisorial lines of Alameda county so that a district might be formed chiefly for Berkeley. On motion of Supervisor Mitchell, seconded by Supervisor Bridge, a committee was appointed, consisting of the committee of the whole, the County Surveyor and the District Attorney, to obtain data regarding the proposed new district, by the following vote:

Ayes—Supervisors Bridge, Horner, Kelley, Mitchell and Chairman (pro tem.) Rowe—5.

MUST STAND TRIAL ON CHARGE OF BIGAMY

Man Who Illegally Married An Oakland School Girl to Be Prosecuted.

Hazel R. Lewis, who was married a year ago to O. R. McCune and later learned that her husband was already a married man, this morning swore to a complaint charging McCune with bigamy. The man, who is now under arrest in Chicago on a charge of disturbing the peace of his first wife, will be brought to Oakland to face trial on the felony charge. Mrs. McCune No. 1, daughter of Postoffice Inspector Sullivan of St. Louis, will come to Oakland in company with her father to assist in the prosecution of the case.

McCune, upon his arrival in Oakland, represented himself as single and a man of wealth. He paid marked attentions to Miss Lewis, then a student in the Polytechnic High school, and soon made her his wife. The young woman found letters from her husband's first wife, which aroused her suspicions, and she had taken steps to cause the arrest of McCune when he made his escape from the State. He went to St. Louis and was forgiven by his first wife. Later he caused a disturbance at the home of his wife's parents in St. Louis and fled to Chicago, where he was taken into custody.

The local police recently received word from Mrs. McCune No. 1 that she would go to Oakland to give testimony against McCune, provided his second wife would swear to a complaint. This has been done and a detective will leave tonight for Chicago to bring McCune back for trial.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, March 2.—The stock market opened easy today on a fair volume of business. Atchison, Great Northern preferred and American Sugar yielded large fractions, but the losses in the remainder of the list were mostly trivial. Southern Railway preferred advanced a point.

There was a brief period of firmness after business began but the traders did not permit the rise to proceed far before they began to offer stocks down. Union Pacific, St. Paul, Reading, and American Smelting were the weak features, while Northern Pacific and Amalgamated Copper were notably firm.

Erie second preferred fell 1½ and American Smelting 1¼.

The announcement of the cut in the quarterly dividend of the American Ice Company to 1 per cent compared with 2 per cent for the preceding quarter was followed by a fall of 1½ in the price of that stock. The general list hardened and prices of some stocks sold over the Saturday level. National Lead gained 1⅜.

Bonds were steady.

The market closed irregular and extremely dull. There was a hardening again in the final hour. Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Illinois Central, American Smelting and Anaconda rose over Saturday's level and National Lead 3¼. Westinghouse Electric declines 1 and Denver & Rio Grande 1½.

Dullness was the chief characteristic of the market. Difficulty of obtaining a following discouraged the professionals from attempting any important speculative moves.

Denver & Rio Grande preferred sagged 2½ and Bethlehem Steel 1⅜. International Pump gained 1.

The buying of stocks after the early losses had been recovered diminished, the market thereafter becoming almost stagnant, with no perceptible movement. Texas and Pacific and Amalgamated improved 1.

Hold Memorial Services for Murdered King and Crown Prince

DEAD KING CARLOS. LUIZ FELIPE. KING MANUEL II.

LOCAL PORTUGUESE PAY THE LAST HONORS

Imposing Assemblage of Officials and Clergy to Hear Requiem Mass.

In the presence of the consuls of Great Britain, France, Germany, Portugal, Turkey, Japan, Brazil and other nations, city and county officials and hundreds of members of the Portuguese colony of this city, with the edifice draped in deepest mourning of black and purple, pontifical requiem high mass was celebrated yesterday morning at St. Joseph's Portuguese church for the repose of the souls of the late assassinated king and crown prince of Portugal. The funeral panegyris was preached by Bishop Da Silva, a relative of the dead king. After a eulogy of Don Corlos and deprecating the awful crime that was committed, he spoke in glowing terms of the high qualities of the new boy king Manuel and the successful way in which he is making order and peace out of confusion and anarchy.

Impressive Services.

The memorial services were one of the most impressive ever witnessed in this city. Representative priests from many of the Catholic churches about the bay were in the sanctuary. They were Father J. J. O'Connell of St. Joseph's Church, Alameda; Father Thomas J. Kennedy of St. Mary's Church, Oakland; Father McSweeney of St. Francis de Sales Church; Father Peter C. Yorke of St. Anthony's Church; Father Michael Borghino, provincial of the Salesian order; Father John Rosa and Father Philomeno Ferrara of San Francisco;

BISHOP DA SILVA.

Father Michael Peter Kearns, chaplain of St. Joseph's Academy, Berkeley; Father Joseph R. Simeoni of San Francisco; Brother Agnon and Brother F. Cornelius of St. Mary's college.

Bishop Celebrates Mass.

Bishop Henrique De Silva of Lisbon was celebrant; Father J. Galli, deason; Father Henry Ferreira, sub-deacon, and Father M. Borghino, master of ceremonies.

The Madonno mass Funebre in B flat was sung. The singers were Miss Clara Atkins, soprano; Miss Laura Kluze von Kisielnicka, contralto; R. A. Eucaruacao, basso; M. da Camara, director, and J. L. de Freitas, organist. A Portuguese band of 68 pieces, made up from U. P. E. C. and the Society of the Holy Ghost, rendered appropriate music before and after mass. Order was kept by members of the Portuguese society, most of whom were dressed in their fraternal uniform.

In the center aisle near the altar railing stood mock catafalque, around which the obsequies for the murdered king and crown prince were held.

Tears for the Dead.

Many in the congregation could not contain their feelings but burst into tears as the prayers for the dead were chanted. Sympathy and sadness were written on the faces of all, especially as Bishop De Silva dwelt on the effects of the shock of the royal tragedy. In his sermon he gave a short biography of Don Carlos, spoke of his aptitude for music and art and told how the majority of the Portuguese people were against the work of anarchists and revolutionists. The bishop said that it is only the few and not the many who wanted rebellion and opposed monarchy. The people, he continued, are not ready for a republican form of government.

The desire of King Manuel to do what is for the best interest of the people and the government was then pointed out with a review of his character and fitness for the high place to which he was suddenly called.

At the close of the sermon, the bishop asked the congregation to kneel and pray for the new King and for the dead Don Carlos and Crown Prince Luig.

Consular Representatives

Among the consuls and diplomats in attendance were H. H. Berkholm, Denmark; A. Bopp, Germany; Geo. J. E. Maritz, Netherlands; George A. Hall, Turkey; D. E. Kund, Norway; M. Kosakivitch, Russia; Walter R. Hearn, Great Britain; C. DeCazotte, vice-consul of France; Archibald Barnard, vice-consul of Brazil, Bolivia and Ecuador; C. Koiki, Japan; K. Matsubeiras, Japan; J. Hungry As a Bear and Can't Eat

If, When Mealtime Comes, You Suffer From a Yes-Not Kind of Hunger, You're a Dyspeptic.

How to Cure All Stomach Troubles

A good many people get mad when you tell them they've got dyspepsia, but way down deep in their stomachs they know they've got it.

"I'd love to eat it, but I can't," is one kind of dyspepsia.

"I hate to think of it," is another kind. There are thousands of people today who hate their meals, and love them at the same time. They haven't that fine empty-hungry eat-everything-in-sight kind of feeling which goes with every good strong healthy stomach. That's because they have dyspepsia. And then there are others whose mouths don't water at meal time or at any other time. They sit at the table and go through the motions, only because it's time to eat. These people, too, are dyspeptics.

Every possible kind of stomach trouble can be cured by taking something which will just take right hold of all the food in your stomach and digest it alone without the help of the stomach, and let the stomach take a rest.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this very thing. They are composed of the best digestive known to science, and are absolutely safe. One ingredient alone of one of these tablets will digest 2000 grains of food! These tablets do exactly the work that a good strong healthy stomach does.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure all cases of dyspepsia, indigestion, burning or irritation, loss of appetite, bloat, brash, belching, aversion to food, fermentation and gas on the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will make you feel "good" before and after each meal, and make your stomach strong and healthy again. They will make you happy.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold at every drug store for 50c a box.

BURGLAR IS CAUGHT IN ACT

Woman's Timely Alarm Brings the Police and Results in Arrest.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—The of mind and alertness of Mrs. Mary Raymond, who keeps a restaurant at 936 Franklin street, this morning resulted in the arrest of a desperate burglar who was looting the clothing renovatory of Monhan & Thompson next door.

At 3 o'clock this morning as Mrs. Raymond was waiting on a customer, she heard the crash of glass, followed by the noise of some one prying open a door and, running to the front of her store, she looked into the show window of the clothing shop and saw a man burst into the place. She immediately called at the top of her voice for the police and Officer Fogarty, who was near the corner of Golden Gate avenue, heard her and responded promptly.

Fogarty went to the rear of the store and caught the burglar emerging with a suit of clothes under his arm and a bundle in his hand. As soon as he saw the officer the thief took an iron jimmy from his pocket, which had been used to force the door, and raising it challenged the policeman to approach at his peril.

Fogarty was too quick for him, however, and striking him with his club, wrenched the bar from his hand and quickly subdued him.

At the Bush street station the burglar gave his name as Frank Smith, and his occupation as a carpenter. A bunch of skeleton keys and other incriminating evidence was found on his person.

ROME, Mar. 2.—In the Hall of the Beautifications today, a great funeral ceremony was held for the repose of the souls of the late King Carlos of Portugal and the Crown Prince Luiz Felipe, who were assassinated in the streets of Lisbon February 1 last. Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutteili, arch priest of the Liberian basilica, who also holds among his other title that of Protector of Portugal, celebrated mass. The Pope, himself, gave absolution. The papal court, members of the aristocracy of Rome and several thousand others, including many Americans were present at the function.

QUITE SO.

"I've just been reading about Montaigne."

"What of him?"

"He said that whenever he saw a good thing he annexed it."

"Well, declared the saturnine joke-smith, "he had the right idea for running a humorous column."

CALLS ATTACK ON JUDGE WILFLEY A SCANDAL

Roosevelt Defends Jurist Whose Impeachment Is Demanded by Shanghai Lawyers.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—President Roosevelt's defense of Judge Lebbens R. Wilfley, based on an analytical review by Secretary Root of the charges against him, was made public today. The charges were preferred by Lorin Andrews, and have been represented by him before the house committee on judiciary as the basis of impeachment proceedings. They relate to Judge Wilfley's administration of the United States court at Shanghai, China.

After disposing of each of the seven charges by claiming that none of them is the proper basis of criticism against Judge Wilfley, Secretary Root reviews conditions in the foreign quarters of Shanghai, showing that because of heretofore lax American administration of justice there, affairs had grown disgraceful.

Judge Wilfley was sent there for the express purposes of reversing these conditions. Secretary Root concludes:

Denounces Lawyers.

"The circumstances thus presented exhibit a motive for the attempt to drive Judge Wilfley from his position. They present a strong probability of misjudgment, exaggeration and distortion of facts on the part of the lawyers who have personally suffered from the changed conditions.

"They make it clear that upon no trifling grounds should our government incur the public misfortune which would be involved in putting the stamp of disapproval on the work for decency and righteousness that the United States court for China has done.

"My opinion is that Judge Wilfley is entitled, not to condemnation, but to commendation and high credit for his conduct in office and that the charges against him should be dismissed."

President Roosevelt's vindication is contained in a letter to Secretary Root. He first comments that it appears that Congressman Waldo, of New York, stands sponsor for the chearges.

"I cordially concur in your findings," he continues, "which is to the effect that Judge Wilfley is not only innocent but is attacked solely because of the fearlessness and integrity with which he stamped out vice and crime in Shanghai, sponsor for the charges.

Impeachment of Decency.

"It is clear that Judge Wilfley has been attacked not because he has done evil, but because he has done good. The assault on him is simply an impeachment of decency and zeal for the public good and if successful would tend to discourage every honest public servant who dares to withstand the forces banded together for evil and would do grave damage to the honor and interest of our country in the Orient.

"If the attacks were to succeed the beneficiaries would be every keeper of a house of prostitution, every swindling lawyer, every man who lives by blackmail and corruption in the cities of the Far East.

"These are the people whose hopes have been revived by the effort to overthrow this upright and fearless judge, who has already done so much for the good name of America in China. It is not too much to say that this assault on Judge Wilfley in the interest of the vicious and criminal clases is a public scandal."

COFFEE

Why eat good butter and drink poor tea and coffee.

Your grocer returns your money if you don't like Schilling's Best; we pay him.

A word to the made-to-order man

About the Suits we are building To-order For $20

IF you are one of the many men who have their clothes made to order---and naturally in the market for a Spring Suit---we would like to engage your attention long enough to lay two or three facts before you.

If you have lived here for any length of time you know that S. N. Wood & Co. do a tremendous tailoring business. The fact is we make up more Suits to measure than any six tailors you can name.

Did you ever stop to consider why we have such a big following---why so many men come to us season after season---why our business keeps growing by leaps and bounds?

The reason is simple---but it's strong---very strong. We build you a suit to measure for $20 for which any other tailor charges $30. We give you a perfect fit---tailor your garment by hand---sew it with silk---and guarantee you satisfaction in every detail or money back.

This season our showing of woolens at $20 is simply magnificent!---tomorrow morning the tailoring windows of our 4 stores will show some of these remarkable values---you'll agree that they are beauties---and if you order a suit you'll experience a sensation of satisfaction at having a garment you'll wear with pride---that cost you $10 under its usual price elsewhere.
